ETHIOPIA MAY OFFER MANDATE TO BRITAIN

TRIBES LEAVE FRONTIER INVASION RUMOURS PERSIST

ITALIAN ATTACKED IN ADDIS ABABA

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1924. Received, Sept. 4, 8.15 a.m.)

Addis Ababa, Sept. 3.

Many prominent Ethiopians are convinced that the best way out of the present desperate situation is to offer Great Britain a mandate over the country. The views of the Emperor upon this matter are not known, but unquestionably responsible quarters are giving serious attention to the suggestion.

The Danakil tribesmen are still continuing to arrive in small numbers from villages near Deridawa and the rumour persists that Italian troops have crossed the frontier. This report was first heard in Addis Ababa yesterday, and was followed by a quick denial from Rome that the vanguard of the Italian army in Eritrea, numbering some 2,500 men, had entered Ethiopian territory.

Nervousness prevails in Deridawa. Many foreigners are leaving for Djibouti, in French Somaliland.

WARRIOR PRINCESS

Nowhere is there a greater enthusiasm for war than in the wild Tigre region where Ras Seyoum commands an army of between 150,000 and 200,000 men. Princess Atzede, beautiful wife of Seyoum, virtually commands the troops in her husband's absence and he intends to go into the front line in the event of war, leaving her to direct operations.

Seyoum's plan is to warn the army and the population of any Italian attack by means of a series of great bonfires on high points of land. The fire line will extend 150 miles to the rear of the front line and 100 fires will send their smoke warning to the back country and bring the irregular levies into action. The system has been found to work very satisfactorily, making rapid mobilisation possible.—Reuter Special.

ITALIAN BEATEN

London, Sept. 3. On the eve of the League of Nations enquiry into the Italo-Abyssinian dispute, a disquieting personal incident is reported from Addis Ababa. According to Italian sources an Italian citizen was attacked in the street. Stones were thrown at an Italian house.

The Italian Minister is said to have told the Ethiopian Government that he is not responsible if the Italians henceforth take legitimate means to defend themselves.

French reports state that Count de Roquesselle, the French manager of the East African Company, has been arrested at Jijiga, Abyssinia, on charges of espionage. Jijiga is a fortified city.

The French Consul at Deridawa has gone to Jijiga to investigate.—Reuter.

LEAGUE COUNCIL

Geneva, Sept. 3. The League of Nations Council will meet privately at 4 o'clock to-morrow when the agenda for the session will be settled.

The meeting will be followed immediately by a public session.—Reuter.

WAR WITHIN MONTH

FORECAST FROM GENEVA

ARBITRATION DECISION

Geneva, Sept. 3.

Statesmen arriving here for the League of Nations Council session to-morrow agree that the future Europe alignment, the League's fate, and possibly European and world peace, depend to some extent on what can be accomplished in the next fortnight by the diplomats of the nations.

Wednesday's Council meeting will be followed on September 9 by the annual assembly, in which fifty-seven nations will participate.

Statesmen say that the outlook may be summarised as follows: First, an Italian declaration of war is certain within a month;

Second, there will not be an immediate effort to impose penalties;

Third, the reported oil concessions to a mysterious American firm are unimportant and do not alter the main facts in the situation.—United Press.

NO RESPONSIBILITY

Paris, Sept. 3.

The Italo-Ethiopian Arbitration Commission has decided that no responsibility of any kind, either moral or pecuniary, attaches to either Italy or Ethiopia in the Ualul incident or in subsequent events.

It is understood that the Arbitration Commission's unexpected decision was reached because the arbitrators reasoned that the League Council's decision of August 3 ruled out the Commission's purview on the question of ownership of Ualul, making it virtually impossible to give a legal decision.

The Commission accordingly decided to deal with the question on a basis of examination of facts which is difficult nine months after the event.

Considering that the Italians at Ualul are acting colonially and the Ethiopians nationally, the Commission found it was unable to impute the blame to Ethiopia.

The decision is regarded here as clearing the horizon of a troublesome incident and tending to facilitate a peaceful solution of the Italo-Abyssinian problem.—Reuter.

EDEN'S MOVEMENTS

London, Sept. 3.

The Minister for League of Nations Affairs, Mr. Anthony Eden, motored this evening across the frontier from Geneva to Aix-les-Bains to dine with the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who is leaving for London to-morrow.

Mr. Eden arrived at Geneva early to-day to attend the League Council which meets to-morrow. Conversations with the French Prime Minister, M. Laval, began in Paris last night, were continued at Geneva to-day and Mr. Eden also saw other members of the Council and the Secretary General of the League, M. Avenol.

The Council will hear a report on the Three-Power Conference which broke down in Paris on August 18 when the Italian Government rejected the Anglo-French proposals for a possible settlement of the dispute with Abyssinia. The Council will also receive the report on the Ualul incident of Italo-Ethiopian Commission of Arbitration set up under the 1928 Treaty of Amity. The Commission which was unable to reach an agreement as originally constituted, finished its work under the presidency of a fifth neutral member, the well-known jurist, Monsieur Politis, Greek Minister in Paris.—British Wireless.

Cancelling Ethiopian Concession?

OFFICIAL AMERICAN ANNOUNCEMENT

TROUBLE FOR NOTHING

Washington, Sept. 3.

If what the State Department says is true, the fear of complications arising out of the letting of a concession in oil and mineral production in Ethiopia to an American company is no longer serious. The State Department says the concession is to be cancelled.

It was reported Saturday that Mr. F. M. Rickett, a British agent of big oil interests, had procured a concession from the Emperor of Abyssinia which was worth an immense amount of money. British and American capital was said to be involved, and it was expected that Italy would be gravely disturbed by the development.

Yesterday, at Djibouti, Mr. Rickett denied that the British investors had any money in the venture. It was purely American, he said. Meanwhile, the Foreign Office had denied all official knowledge of the concession, and Washington, too, had declared that it had no hand in obtaining the contract.—Reuter.

POLICY UNCHANGED

Washington, Sept. 3.

The Ethiopian concession to the African Exploration Corporation will play no part whatever in the United States attitude towards the Italo-Abyssinian situation, announced Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, when questioned to-day.

Whatever the nature of the transaction may prove to be, either commercially or politically, the Government's policy towards the controversy would be maintained hereafter just as it would have been maintained had the concession not been arranged. He reiterated that the concession was negotiated without Government cognizance.—Reuter.

COMPANY WITHDRAWS

Washington, Sept. 3.

Mr. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, announced to-day that as a result of conversations he had had with officials of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company they had declared they would withdraw from the concession agreement with Ethiopia.—Reuter.

ATTITUDE UNCHANGED

Addis Ababa, Sept. 3.

The Government is not disposed to change its attitude regarding the concession awards, affirms an official communiqué. It acted.—(Continued on Page 18.)

Still Higher Speed Sought By Campbell

WILL RACE BLUEBIRD AGAIN TO-DAY

NEARS PLANE RECORD

(Special to "Telegraph")

Booneville, Sept. 3.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, unchallenged king of the world of speed drivers, will try again to better the prodigious speed he has already attained in Bluebird, and will drive the lake bed track to-day. He smashed his old records yesterday, actually attaining a speed of over 300 miles per hour in his north-easterly run, but his average for the runs in two directions was still slightly below 300 miles per hour.

RECORD BROKEN?

Booneville, Sept. 3.

A re-check of Sir Malcolm Campbell's times on the record-breaking runs across the lake sands yesterday disclosed that he actually did break the 300 mile per hour average speed, as he had hoped to do. His average for the two runs works out at 300.377 miles per hour.

Officials announced that they could not explain the unfortunate error in calculations, says United Press. A Reuter message from Wendover, Utah, states that the official contest board of the American Automobile Association has corrected Campbell's average speed to 301.337 miles per hour. The original figure was due to a miscalculation in the time.

Driving north, Sir Malcolm hit up 304.811 miles per hour; driving south-west, he travelled at 295.566 miles per hour. He covered the mile course northwards in 11.83 seconds and southwards in 12.18, mean averages of 299.875 miles per hour or one mile in 12.005 seconds.

Despite his new record Sir Malcolm was downcast because he had failed to average 300 miles per hour. "Well, I've got to do it all over again," he said. "Probably he will attempt to pick up the elusive one-five thousandths of a second lacking on the south-westerly run to-day when he takes Bluebird over the course to-morrow."

He needs only this fractional increase in speed to attain the desired goal.—(Continued on Page 18.)

TERRIBLE TOLL OF STORM

75 LIVES LOST ON FLORIDA COAST

PASSENGER VESSEL IN GRAVE DANGER

Jacksonville, Sept. 3.

Seventy-five men have lost their lives and forty-seven have been injured in a hurricane which struck with suddenness and fury to-day.

The casualties were suffered in the War Veterans' relief camp on the islands near Key West, where evacuation was commenced yesterday when reports of the nearness of the storm were first received.

Motorboats are rushing to the camp from the United States Naval Station at Key West, taking aid to the survivors of the disaster, who are without food or water and who may be beyond the reach of assistance for some time yet. The weather is still very heavy and the task of the relief boats a hazardous one.

SHIP'S DANGER

Notwithstanding the mountainous seas which are running off the coast, the steamers Limon, Rooper and Platano have fought their way to a point off the reef where the passenger vessel, Dixie, lies stranded, pounded severely by the combers.

They are standing by the apparently doomed ship but have been unable to attempt to transfer the Dixie's passengers. They must wait for the storm to subside. The Dixie went ashore in the path of the hurricane which did so much damage near Key West, and her wireless was put out of commission soon after she called for immediate assistance. She had aboard 235 passengers and a crew of 118.

Coast Guard cutters are fighting their way towards her.—Reuter. The ship is pounding heavily on the reef, on the southern tip of Florida.

PACIFIC AIR BASE AT MACAO

AMERICAN AIRWAYS ACCEPT OFFER

(Special to "Telegraph")

New York, Sept. 3. Following the announcement from Lisbon yesterday that the Portuguese Government had authorized Pan-American Airways to halt their planes at Macao, as the terminus of their trans-Pacific service, officials of the American concern to-day indicated that the offer would be accepted.

When asked whether a definite decision had been reached, Pan-American Airways officials said present surveys indicated Macao as presenting the best operating conditions on the China coast for the services which the Company now contemplates.

It is evident that the Company intends using Macao as the present terminal of the trans-Pacific service, but the impression gained was that it would not necessarily be the only one.

Yesterday's Lisbon message also stated that Pan-American Airways are seeking permission to establish radio-telegraphic and chronometric stations at Macao.—United Press.

FORCING JEWS FROM BUSINESS

NOTICE TO CLOSE THEIR DOORS

ART DEALERS' FATE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Berlin, Sept. 3.

Jewish dealers in fine arts and antiques have been given notice to liquidate their businesses within a month, when their names will be removed from the Reich Kultur Chamber.

The Propaganda Minister considers that trading in cultural goods is not a purely economic occupation, and therefore is not protected by the general order that business life must not be interfered with. Non-Aryans own over 80 per cent. of the fine arts and antique businesses, and their enforced liquidation is expected to overstock the market and cause a great drop in prices.

Foreign dealers who are internationally well-known have protested through their Consuls against the order to liquidate.

Meanwhile, a message from Lucerne states that a strongly worded resolution condemning Germany for persecution of the Jews has been passed by the Zionist Congress meeting there. The German delegation voted against the resolution.

The Congress adopted a resolution approving of the convocation of a World Jewish Congress to protect Jewish rights in different countries.—Reuter Special.

FRENCH VINEYARDS DESTROYED

HAVOC PLAYED BY TORNADO

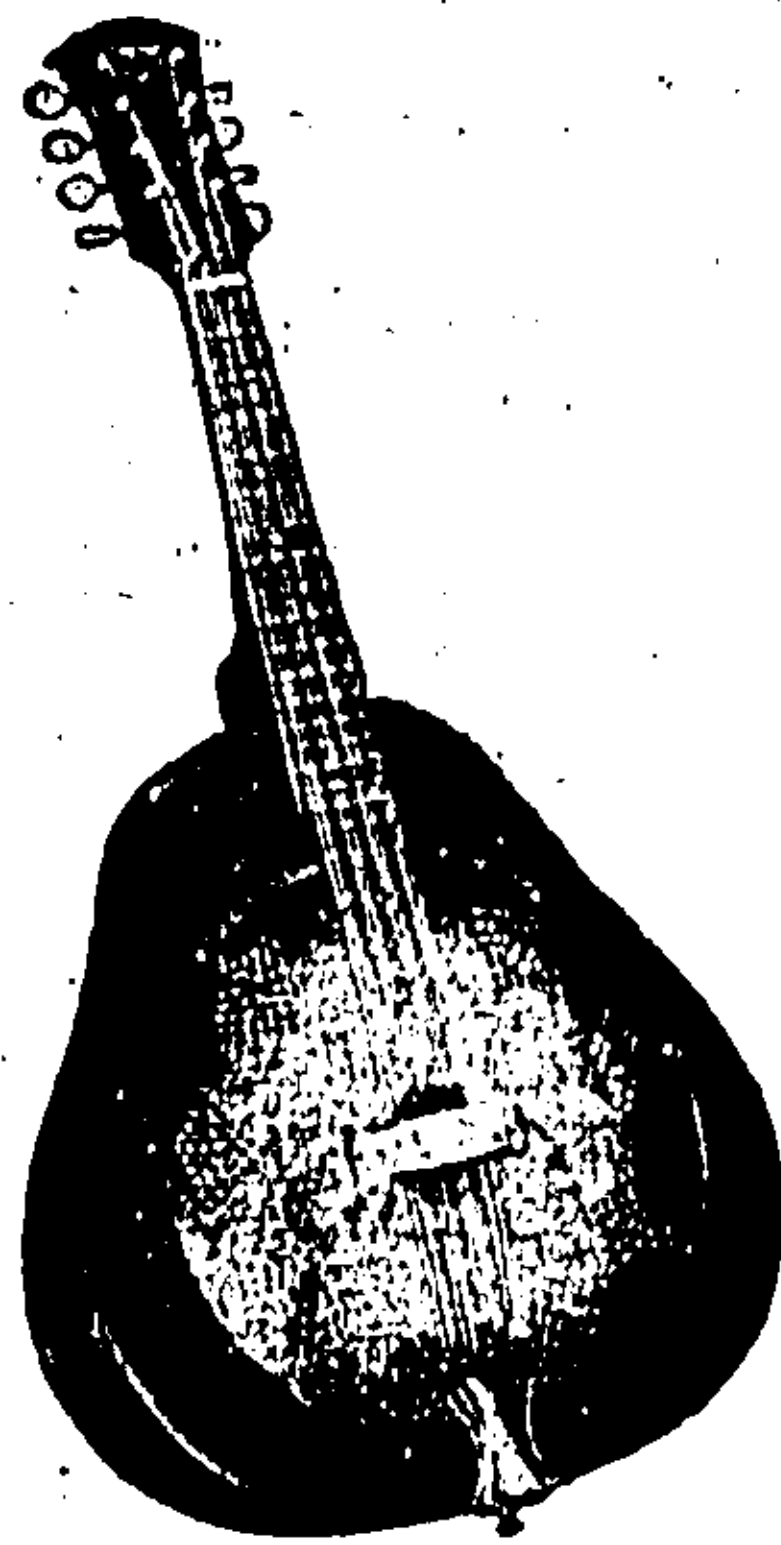

Bordeaux, Sept. 3.

Some of the most famous claret vineyards in France were to-day devastated by a tornado, these including the Sainte Million Pomerol vineyard.

The storm struck the region between Libourne and Bordeaux, completely stripping the vines on which hung masses of grapes ripe for gathering.—Reuter Special.

WORLD FEARS THE CLOUDS

Making Paris Safe From Bombs

EVACUATE PEOPLE IN EVENT OF AIR RAIDS

Paris, Aug. 30.

A project aimed at making the population of Paris safer from aerial attack is rapidly being drafted by the Committee for the Improvement of the Paris Region for presentation to Parliament when it reconvenes next month.

Working with Henri Giraud, Director General of Public Works, the committee, which is headed by Louis Dausset, former president of the Municipal Council, is drafting plans to make evacuation of the city easier, to make buildings less vulnerable to aerial bombs and to furnish the population with masks and other means of defence.

The committee has indicated that it wants to make several changes

Even primary Japanese schoolchildren in Tokyo had their training when the Japanese Government staged two-day air defense maneuvers in three of the country's principal cities. When sirens warned of the approach of "enemy planes," the children donned gas masks and dashed to a place of safety.

Air Conditioning As A Cure For Common Colds

WHAT THEY ARE DOING IN AMERICA

San Francisco, Aug. 30.

Colds can be "air conditioned" out of existence, while the common cold's highbrow companion, sinus trouble, is forced to retreat before the sturdy defence of antigens, recent experiments by the University of California showed.

At the University of California hospital in San Francisco, 28 men were subjected to the unique experiment of "trying to catch cold."

Theoretically it should have been easy, for every one was chosen for his susceptibility to colds, having set an unenviable record of at least five or six a year.

In groups of four to six the men were isolated in an air conditioned room long enough to cure them of any trace of colds.

The room which was used as the experiment ward was completely cut off from the air of the main hospital. Washed air at a constant temperature of 70 degrees was constantly circulated through the room. A double-door air lock minimised the possibility of entrance of "unconditioned" air into the ward.

When all of a group had lost all tendency to sneezing or snivelling the villain cold germ was introduced into the little medical drama.

An outsider was permitted to enter the room—an outsider with a bad cold. He played cards with the former cold victims. He talked to them. He drank from the same glass as they. He even sneezed indiscreetly now and then.

The doctors sat back and waited to see what would happen.

Nothing did happen. The men who had been so notoriously susceptible to cold germs severely avoided the snivels and sneezes they should have acquired from the cold-carrier.

The doctors reported that the men who had formerly cringed before the advance of a cold germ were now able to face the most obnoxious cold wafted their way without so much as an inhibited sniff.

It has not been ascertained as yet, however, whether their amazing resistance will continue after long-continued absence from the air conditioned ward where they performed so admirably.

Meanwhile, at the University of California at Berkeley, Prof. A. P. Krueger of the Lacteriology department has been making a medical attack on chronic sinus infection—a complaint which in recent years is said to have usurped the place of appendicitis and colitis as a "popular" ailment.

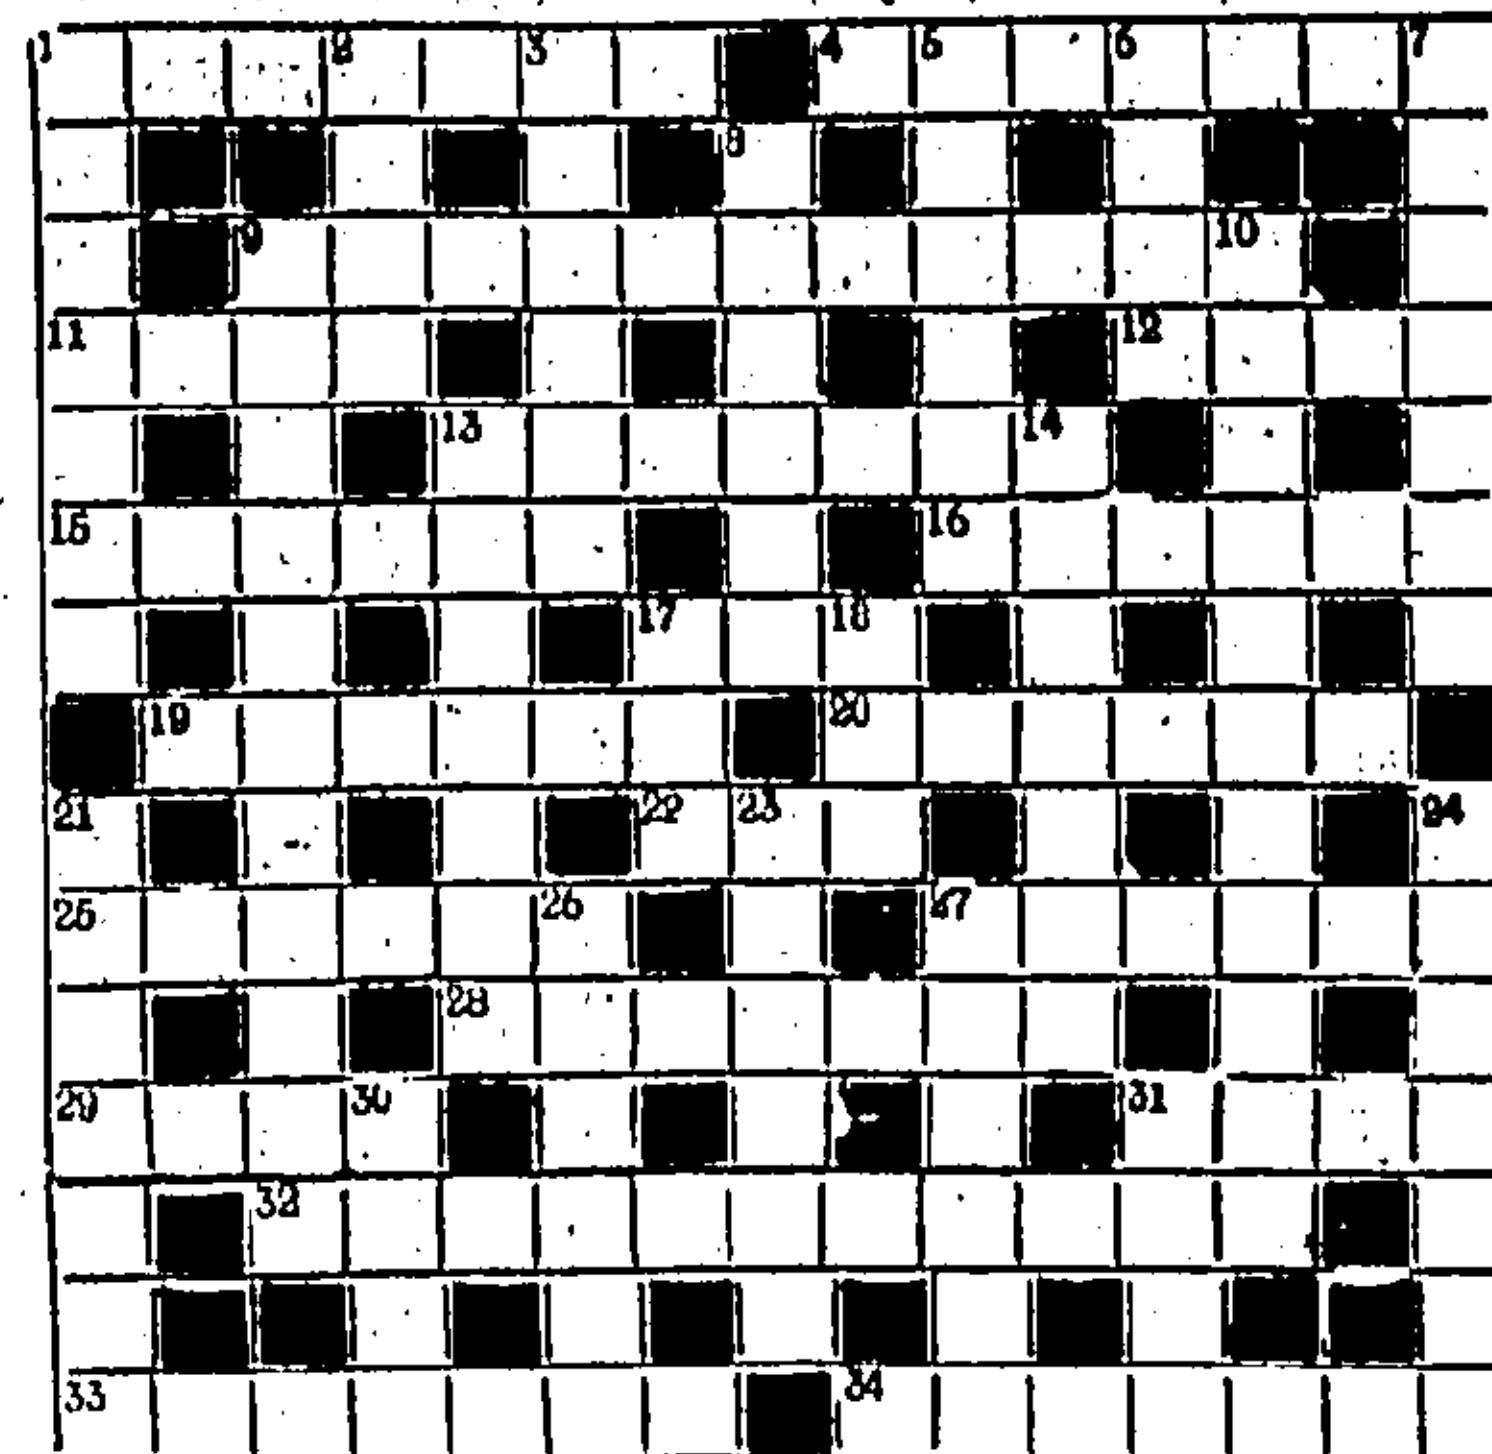

In a report appearing in a recent issue of California and Western Medicine it was pointed out that in a series of 51 test cases on which other methods had failed, the Krueger antigen treatment brought "good results" in 31 or 62 per cent. of the cases. "Fair results" were obtained in 13 or 26 per cent., while "no improvement" was noted in only 6 or 12 per cent. of the cases.

The report was said to be the more significant since it substantiated a similar experiment made by Dr. Forest C. Kracaw of Oakland under similar conditions.

The University report was submitted by Dr. M. N. Hoamer, who performed the experiment with unadventured antigens produced by Professor Krueger. His conclusion was that the Krueger antigens may be expected to yield generally favourable results in the treatment of certain types of chronic sinusitis.

Professor Krueger's antigens are prepared by grinding thousands of organisms responsible for sinus infection in a rotating mill containing polished stainless steel ball bearings.

IS YOUR CHILD TROUBLED WITH WORMS?

A common complaint with little children in the East, if the presence of worms is suspected the child should be treated without delay.

Some of the signs which indicate the presence of worms are irregular appetite, grinding of the teeth in sleep, irritability, pain and swelling of the abdomen, irritation of the nose, bad breath.

The parasites deprive the child of much of the nourishing effect of food, with the result that he becomes thin and weak and his healthy development is arrested.

Baby's Own Tablets have been used with the greatest success in expelling worms, and are equally helpful in cases of infantile constipation, upset stomach, biliousness, diarrhoea, simple fever, colds and croup, and to relieve the pains of teething.

Mildly laxative, the tablets keep the little one's internal organs clean and healthy. Guaranteed under public analyst's certificate to contain no opiates or narcotics, the tablets are absolutely pure and harmless even to the youngest infant in arms. Chemists everywhere sell this health boon for little children.

SOVIET PRISONER

Londoner
Who Was
In Red Army

AN AMAZING STORY

London, Aug. 5.
An amazing story of his life in Russia and of being kept virtually a prisoner for 14 years was told by a young Londoner, Mr. Robert Greenfield, who has just returned to England.

He has been a member of the Young Communists' League, an officer in the Red Army Cavalry, arrested as a spy, and tried for his life.

Taken to Russia by his parents in 1921, when he was a boy of 14, Mr. Greenfield found that it was impossible for him to leave the country.

"It has taken me 14 years to get out of Russia," he said, "and during the whole of that time I have outwardly, at any rate, been an ardent Communist as anyone could be. But my one idea was to get out, and once out, never to return."

"When we first went to Russia conditions were almost unbelievable. Food was so scarce that a pound of bread was worth thousands of roubles. Clothes were unobtainable and people dressed in vermin-ridden sacks."

"Our month's rations were 1 lb. of black bread, 2oz. of tea, and 6lb. of salt herrings. Butter was so scarce that I exchanged a valuable gold fountain pen for a pound of rancid butter. If you saw anyone wearing decent clothes you could be certain that they had been looted from large houses."

"The police did nothing to stop this looting. No one dared to speak against the revolutionary party. People kept their mouths shut through fear of the machine gun execution squad. There was no compulsory education. Children pleased themselves."

"We had to live like cattle until I joined the Young Communists' League. Then things changed as if by magic. I was given good educational facilities which enabled me, after giving a false name, to get a commission in the Red Army Cavalry. Life then became a bed of roses. I had as much food as I wanted. My people got an extra allowance."

"Most of my colleagues were much-married men. It cost 4s. to get married and 4s. to get divorced, and either party can divorce the other three weeks after the marriage on political or temperamental grounds. I did not get married myself, because I disliked the system and always hoped for the time when I could get out of the country."

"Finally, I summoned up enough courage to apply for my British passport. I was instantly thrown into gaol and accused of being a spy. My life hung on a thread."

"After months of uncertainty and rough usage in prison I managed to convince them that I was not a spy. I was released on condition that I left Russia for ever."

The Army
To Have A
New RifleIT FIRES 50 SHOTS
A MINUTE

FOLLOWING the adoption of a new light machine-gun for the British Army, a new self-loading rifle will be adopted shortly to take the place of the present Service rifle S.M.L.E. Mark III.

Exhaustive tests have been made with two foreign rifles and five British, one of which is gas-operated.

It has been decided to adopt one of British invention, and the War Office are only waiting the leave of the Treasury before announcing the type chosen.

The cost of issuing the new rifle will have to be met by a Supplementary Estimate and will be about £3,000,000.

The new rifle will be lighter than the present type by several ounces; it will fire at least 50 aimed shots in a minute in the hands of a trained soldier as compared with the 15 rounds a minute of the present rifle.

No muscular manipulation will be necessary for reloading as is the case with the Service rifle and consequently there should be greater accuracy.

The new rifle will be virtually a light machine gun in the hands of a good soldier.

Prince Mdivani Leaves
Fortune To Ex-Wife

ALREADY RICHEST GIRL IN WORLD

New York, Sept. 1.
Prince Alexis Mdivani, ex-husband of Barbara Hutton (now Countess Haugwitz Reventlow), has left a fortune of about two million pounds.

The Prince was killed in a motor smash in Spain last month.

BARBARA HUTTON received another million to add to her riches.

£4,000,000
Fortunes
ForgottenMAYBE SOME OF IT
IS YOURS

FORGOTTEN fortunes totalling £4,000,000 are being cared for by the National Debt Commissioners.

The sum represents the value of British Government securities and their accumulated dividends which have never been claimed by the original purchasers.

One of these holdings—in Consols—is worth nearly £200,000. No one has ever come forward to claim it.

An Englishwoman living in Marseilles did not even know that she possessed a fortune amounting to £56,000 with accumulated dividends totalling nearly £20,000.

For years she had lived by borrowing or begging from relatives or neighbours.

"It is difficult to give the reason for the overlooking of what in many cases are substantial fortunes," an official of the National Debt Commissioners said.

Never Heard Of Again
"Some people go abroad and are never heard of again; others, through illness or old age, simply forget that they own Government stock."

"Both the securities and the dividends accruing can always be claimed."

"But the responsible authorities do not go out of their way to discover the owners."

"The present practice with unclaimed stock is to wait until a claimant appears, and then to advertise for other claimants."

"The Bank of England is responsible for paying out dividends on Government securities. If such dividend is unclaimed it is transferred to an account at the Bank of England kept in the name of the National Debt Commissioners."

"There are more than one hundred batches of securities worth more than £10,000 each—many of them unclaimed for as long as thirty-five years."

Massage Made
"Dead" Heart
Beat AgainMANCHESTER
WOMAN WHO DIED

MRS. Gertrude Roberts, of Farrer-road, Manchester, "died" while being operated on in Ancoats Hospital.

Her heart stopped beating. Her breathing stopped.

The surgeon, who had been performing a nasal operation, realised there was only one chance of saving her life. He took it.

He operated again. He massaged her heart. After four and a half minutes it began to beat. The patient breathed again.

The woman who was dead had been restored to life.

Mrs. Roberts knew nothing of her escape until three days afterwards.

"My first sensation," she said, "was that I had been in a motor-car crash."

"All that I can remember is the mask being put over my face.... millions of stars merging into one.... then darkness."

Mrs. Roberts, slight and dark-haired, is now perfectly well, although her operation has left her weak.

"Three days after my operation," she added, "my husband told me that I had 'died' on the operating table."

Her Only Illness
"No, I have never suffered from heart trouble. The only serious illness I have had is influenza."

The surgeon was Mr. Neville Young, of Manchester. He tells the story of his operation that saved a life in the current issue of the British Medical Journal.

It is a surgeon's story, written for surgeons. It tells how adrenalin was injected; how the heart gradually reacted to massage; how the original operation was resumed when the heart action had been restored.

And it ends:—"The patient has shown no more interest in the affair than a fleeting curiosity regarding the presence of an abdominal wound."

Harry Jones, who is mentioned as a candidate for the next American presidential election, seems to have other interests besides politics, and is here shown behind the bar teaching the bartenders how to mix drinks.

16-Year-Old Girl As ChieftainSCOTTISH CLAN
MEMBERS ARE DIVIDED

MEMBERS of a Scottish clan are split over the question:—

Shall a woman be our chieftain?

Five years ago Colonel Alexander Hew MacLean, chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour, Argyllshire, died leaving no male heir.

He was said to have been the best-loved chieftain in the Highlands. He willed his estate of Ardgour to his eldest daughter Catriona.

Catriona will be sixteen this month. Her mother, the Hon. Mrs. MacLean, assumed that Catriona, as her father's eldest daughter, would be chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour.

The Clan Association disagreed. They claimed that a female could be chieftain of the clan only when there was no suitable male heir in the direct line of succession.

Accordingly, some months ago the Clan Association welcomed Commander H. H. MacLean, of Bursledon, Hampshire, as chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour.

The Hon. Mrs. MacLean strongly opposed this move.

Other influential members of the clan support the right of Miss Catriona MacLean.

Miss Catriona said: "I want to be chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour as my father was."

"Commander H. H. MacLean is an Englishman, and he has no property whatever in Scotland."

"I, on the other hand, am the direct successor of my father's title, and I am heir to the estates of Ardgour."

"I see no reason why I should be passed over in favour of a man who is my father's second cousin."

"There have been plenty of examples of girls being accepted as chieftains of Scottish clans, and my mother and I are determined to fight any attempt to pass me over."

"We know that a great many of the members of the association are sympathetic to my claim."

FILM STAR SETS
RULES FOR SON

HE MUST BE SPARTAN

Joan Blondell's son has just celebrated his first birthday, and, to mark the occasion, the film "star" has formulated eight rules for his upbringing.

Joan, who in private life was Mrs. George Barnes, until last week, when she obtained a divorce, wants her son Norman to be Spartan.

"He's not going to be spoiled like other stars' kids," she declares.

And here are the eight rules she has drawn up:—

"My son is never going to be the 'best dressed kid in the neighbourhood'."

"There will be no nurse or governess to wait on him. I didn't have any of these luxuries."

"If a woman has things too easy, for that, the easiest way to spoil a child."

"He will get no expensive toys. Joan Blondell for the neighbours' children or his father to break. I had loads of fun with old sticks and a bucket as a kid."

"He will go to a State school, where there are girls as well as boys; and, later, he will go to a military school for discipline."

He will never have his name or his picture in the Press unless he has done something to earn it, and perhaps not even then.

"He will be taught the facts of life as soon as advisable."

"No one," adds Joan, "will ever be able to point to my son and say: 'That poor rich film kid!'"

JAPAN'S WAY

BLUNT WORDS FROM ARMY NEGOTIATOR

Tientsin, September 3. Colonel Takashita, the official negotiator on behalf of the Kwantung Army, interviewed by the United Press said that the Chinese now realize the futility of bucking against Japan's now found power in North China and understand that "co-operation" is inevitable, whether they want it or not.

Because of this the officials are prepared to succumb gracefully to Japanese pressure upon the Chinese puppet regime in the matter of air lines, telegraphs and other things of that sort, but the greatest delay was due to the Chinese demands for a great share in the profits accruing from these enterprises.—United Press.

CANTON'S CINEMAS

AMERICAN COMPANIES TO WITHDRAW?

Canton, Sept. 3. With reference to the cinema trouble in Canton it is learned in well informed American circles that all American film companies have decided upon concerted action against the censorship fees and to withdraw completely from Canton in view of the insistence by the local authorities upon their paying the censorship tax.

It is revealed that the companies offered to pay fifty per cent of the fees, despite the contract holding the theatres responsible for what-over taxes and incidental expenses there might be. Nevertheless the offer was rejected and hence the decision to withdraw.—Reuter.

BELGIUM MOURNS

IMPRESSIVE SCENES AT QUEEN'S FUNERAL

Brussels, September 3.
Over 150,000 ex-Service men lined the route for the funeral service for Queen Astrid, while thousands stood in sorrowful silence as the cortege proceeded to the Church of Ste. Gudule. Immediately behind the hearse walked the tragic and bareheaded figure of the King of Belgium wearing the full dress uniform of a general and carrying his right arm in a black sling. The King was accompanied by Prince Charles of Sweden, the father of Queen Astrid, and the Count of Flanders, the King's brother. The Duke of York, representing King George, and the Danish Princesses followed. Behind them came representatives of foreign countries, and high Belgian dignitaries. The pall bearers included the Prime Ministers and other Cabinet Ministers and the Presidents of the Chamber and the Senate. The Queen's role as the young and beloved Queen and mother was symbolised by thousands of children lining the route. Only the tolling of Church bells and the shrill notes of the massed bugles were audible as the cortege moved slowly through the Palace gates. The whole scene was extraordinarily impressive and both men and women shed tears unashamedly.

In The Cathedral

The funeral service was conducted by the Cardinal-Archbishop of Malines. It lasted nearly two hours and concluded with the Benediction and the playing of the National Anthem by the Grenadiers' band. The King, halting, haggard and weeping, followed the hearse alone and on foot, all other mourners being in cars, till they reached the monument to the Unknown Soldier, where the King entered a carriage and proceeded to Notre Dame de Laeken for the private interment ceremony. The coffin bears the simple inscription, "Her Majesty, Astrid, Queen of the Belgians, 1905-1935." Everywhere windows, balconies, roofs were crowded and officers were seen weeping, while the saluting soldiers did not attempt to conceal their sorrow while listening to the funeral service which was broadcast to the streets.

The Final Ceremony

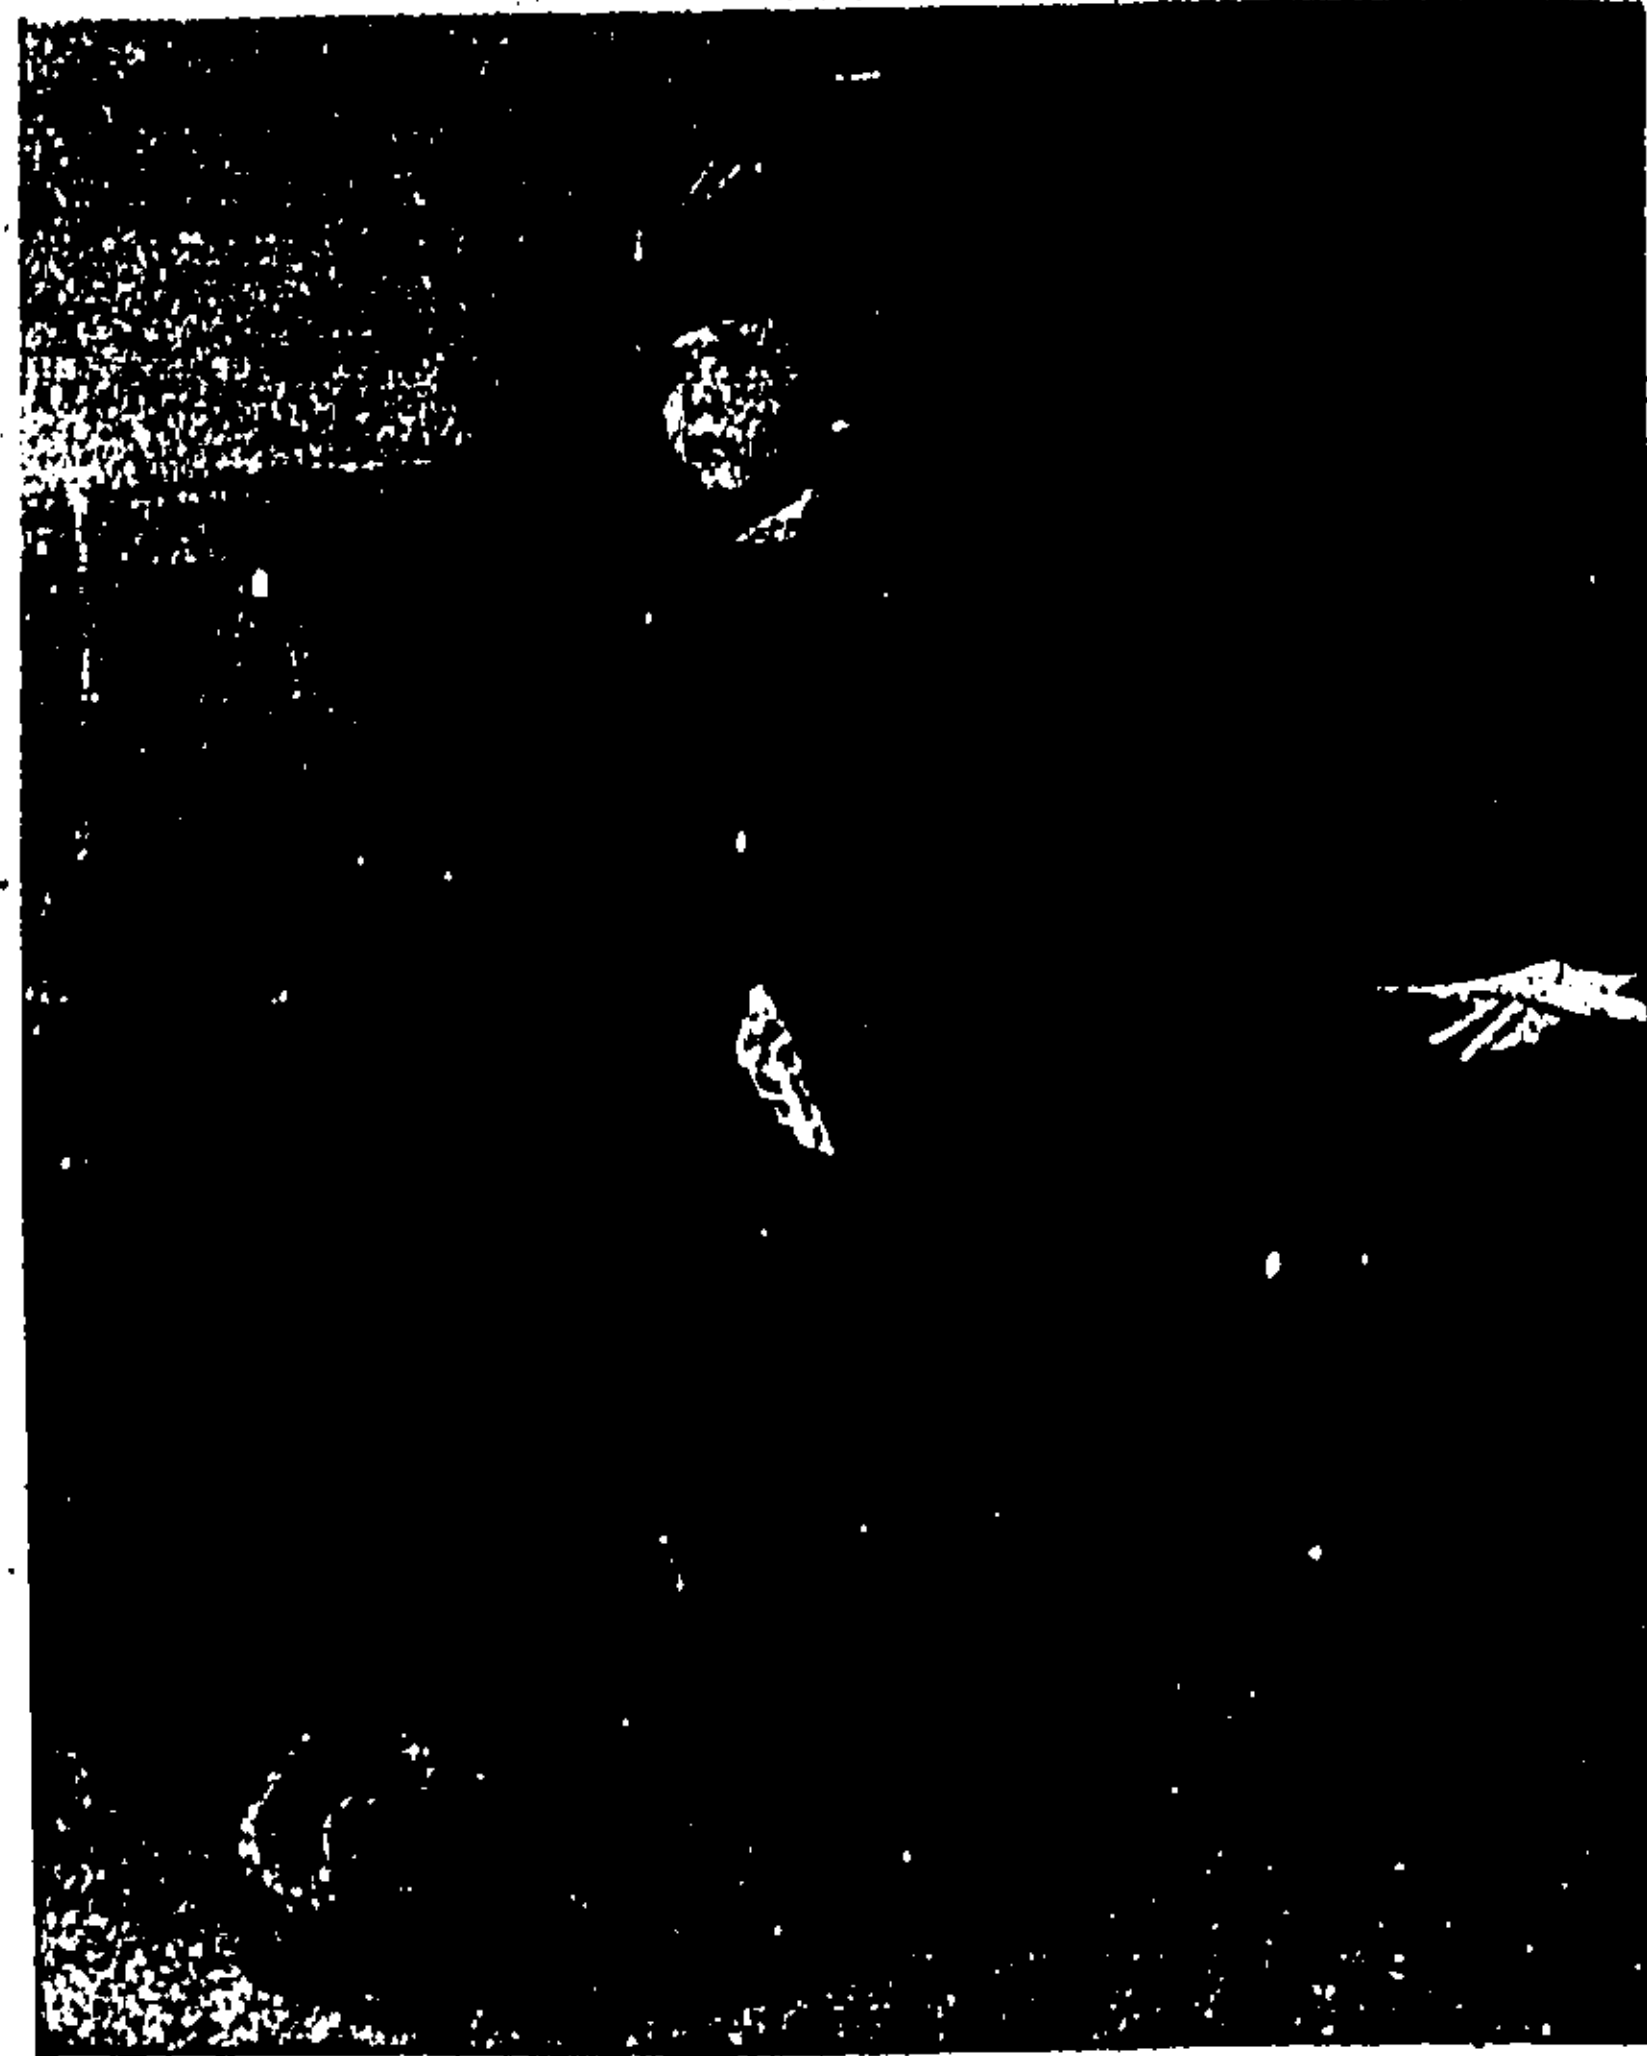

There was another touching scene when the coffin was laid in its last resting place in the crypt at Laeken.

King Leopold, contrary to the earlier report, declined to enter the carriage provided for him at the monument to the Unknown Soldier and walked the two and a half miles to Laeken, where he brushed aside the escorting soldiers and stood gazing at the coffin oblivious of the crowd.

The King was obviously suffering physical as well as mental pain as he entered the Church.

Far overhead four squadrons, each of nine aeroplanes, were circling.

Only the King, Queen Elizabeth, his mother, Prince Charles, of Sweden and the Princess Ingeborg, Queen Astrid's sister, apart from the clergy, were present at the final ceremony.—Reuter.

Here is seen one of a series of photographic reproductions of famous paintings, posed by Shirley Temple—"Her First Sermon," by Sir J. E. Millais. The little cinema star is seen in the costume of 1863, the year in which the canvas was painted. The original now hangs in the Guildhall, London. Shirley Temple is to be seen in "Our Little Girl," commencing a run at the King's Theatre on Friday.

LOCAL WEDDING BELLS

MR. B. C. FIELD MARRIES
MISS E. SCHROTER

A wedding of great local interest was solemnised at St. Joseph's Church yesterday afternoon when Miss Elsa Frances Schroter became the bride of Mr. Bevan Clarence Field, Assistant Secretary of the Land Investment Co.

The Rev. Father Rignanti officiated at the ceremony. The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Grace Schroter, unavoidably absent in Canada, and the late Mr. Carl Schroter, formerly a well-known resident in the Colony. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Field of Hornechurch.

The bride, who entered the Church on the arm of Mr. E. L. Wynne-Jones, looked charming in a wedding gown of tissue from Blanchet Fevier and after a model of Patou. She carried lilies and white Antigonon. Attending the bride were the Misses Rosalie Alabaster and Mary Roger, who wore apricot organdie gowns with silver wreaths on their hair and wore silver slippers. They carried sheaves of apricot gladioli.

The flower girls were Candida and Flavia Toscani, daughters of Mr. Toscani, Commissioner of Customs at Pakhoi.

The duties of best man were undertaken by Mr. John Prentiss. After the ceremony, the many guests attended a reception held at the Gloucester Building, where the health of the happy couple was toasted by Mr. G. P. de Martin. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Field left for the honeymoon, which is to be spent in Japan.

HONGKONG AS AIR TERMINUS

The report from Lisbon that the Portuguese Government has authorised Pan-American Airways to use Macao as the Far Eastern terminus of its proposed trans-Pacific service suggests the possibility of Hongkong being side-tracked in this important venture. It was in June last that a report gained currency to the effect that Pan-American Airways had been compelled to abandon its original of making Canton the terminus, and it was further stated that the company would be willing to bring its service into Hongkong from Manila, provided it could here link up with the China National Aviation Corporation's service. What is more, it was stated that C.N.A.C. officials were quite prepared to provide the link if granted landing rights in the Colony. In view of these reports, we strongly urged at the time that the Hongkong and Home Governments should reconsider their policy in regard to granting landing rights to Chinese planes, and we further pleaded that in this matter Hongkong should throw itself open to regular aviation lines, irrespective of nationality, thus making the Colony a free port for aviation, as it is for shipping. Prominent local individuals and interests warmly endorsed our plea. One of the points we made, in putting forward this proposal, was that if Hongkong did not seize the opportunity of making itself the Far Eastern terminus of the American service, other centres would seek to secure the privilege. At about that time, Mr. Bixby, representing Pan-American Airways, arrived in the Colony, and he also made a trip to Macao, where he doubtless conferred with the authorities on the subject. Indeed, it is more than likely that the development now reported from Lisbon is a direct result of his visit. It would be interesting to know whether Mr. Bixby, whilst in Hongkong, approached the local Government on the matter of making this Colony the terminus, or, what is of equal importance, whether any attempt was made to get into contact with him. In any event, there can be no questioning the desirability of Hongkong being linked up with the trans-Pacific service. For this reason,

NOTES OF THE DAY

ITALY VINDICATED

M. Politis, says Reuter, has completely vindicated Italy in the matter of that little clash at Ualual. That is to say, he holds that the Ethiopian tribesmen there were the aggressors. A finding of this neutral member of the Commission of Conciliation should, as European capitals apparently expect, ease the tension at present existing on the eve of the League Council meeting which will consider the rights and wrongs of Italy's case against Ethiopia. Yet we cannot but doubt that the Conciliators' efforts will be effectual. In the first place, the naming of an aggressor in the Ualual affair means very little, in the circumstances. The real issue in respect of the Ualual brush, in which there were dead on both sides, is that of possession. If Ualual is inside Italian territory, then Ethiopian aggression cannot be condoned. If, on the other hand, Ualual is outside the Italian zone of responsibility the Ethiopian "aggression" is unfortunately termed. It is unlikely that the full report of M. Politis' findings will be made known until after the meeting of the League Council, today; and we therefore cannot know whether the question of the opposing territorial claims was taken into consideration when Ethiopia was named "aggressor." A supposition that Italy's action at Ualual has been vindicated is very well at this juncture; but whether her subsequent preparations for war, her defiance of League authority, her declaration of a determination to subdue Ethiopia whether the League likes it or no, can be vindicated, is entirely another matter.

GUESS AT REACTION

We are going to chance a guess at the reaction which will follow this declaration of M. Politis. We are going to suggest that it is much too early for any optimist to claim that the danger of complications has passed. We do know that Ethiopia, according to the word of her Emperor, will do her best to make amends if the League finds that her actions at Ualual, and subsequently, were unjustified. But that Ethiopia's amends will be satisfactory to Signor Mussolini we very much doubt. Even at the beginning of this trouble Ethiopia agreed that Italy should be given control of her post office and police, among other things, and that Italy should administer her communications and transport. That was not enough for Signor Mussolini. There is a possibility that, far from easing the tension already existing, M. Politis' vindication may have the effect of stiffening the Italian back and making Signor Mussolini still more exacting in his demands. In fairness to Ethiopia it should be said that, thus far, that country has given the impression that it is more willing to effect a compromise. At the moment it has only two alternatives: to surrender or to fight. We cannot see that M. Politis has altered the situation one jot. Nor can we see that the affair at Ualual is justification for the invasion Italy is apparently planning, no matter who was right and who was wrong in that unfortunate affair. There is machinery for the settlement of such disputes, and it should be used. An invasion of the virtually defenceless Ethiopian Empire, and the complications it will inevitably cause, cannot easily be "vindicated," no matter what the provocation.

we entertain the hope that the Government, or leading public men interested in making Hongkong a world airport, will without further delay take the matter up and see whether Pan-American Airways can be induced to bring Hongkong into its scheme. We suggest that the subject be raised at the Legislative Council, with particular reference to the question of requiring no quid pro quo from China in return for landing rights here. If it is still true that Pan-American Airways and the C.N.A.C. are willing to link up in Hongkong, the last thing this Colony should do is to place any obstacle in their way. The matter is one of urgency; if action is further delayed, it may be too late to do anything. A message to hand this morning indicates that Pan-American Airways intends making use of Macao as a landing port, but that it will not necessarily be the only one in the south China area. Hongkong should therefore press its claims for inclusion in the Pan-American system.

HOW DO YOU DO ON HOLIDAYS?

By LOUISE MORGAN

Last year two London gardeners were given a fortnight's holiday at full pay. They got so bored after three days that they begged to come back to their job. These men are remarkable only as survivals of an attitude of mind which is rapidly disappearing. They are over 60, and with them will die the generation which did not know how to play. The heads of big industrial concerns, great stores, and other organisations which employ tens of thousands of young people, will tell you that the rising generation has learned how to get the most out of every moment of holiday time. The new training in the use of leisure is already beginning to show results in the industrial life of the country. A young man who has collected data about the holidays of some hundreds of his colleagues, girls and men, in a City engineering firm found on analysis that the type of holiday has a distinct relation to work. The typists, whose job is sedentary, choose cycling, hiking or walking holidays. The "travellers," local and overseas, show a marked preference for the remote country or seaside cottage, with fishing as the main objective.

The girls are more adventurous in their choice than the men. Most of the men, especially those over 35, tend to go year after year to the same place, often within easy reach of London, as if they needed less of the "escape element." The young women come back to their desks from the tropics and the land of the midnight sun. They like to get "as far away from the job" as possible, so as to acquire "a new angle on it." This is probably due to the fact that their work is more mechanical than the men's. The machine age has bred a passion for "escape" holidays. From inquiries at travel bureaux I find that only the women who are always on their feet, such as shop assistants, cinema and theatre attendants, waitresses, nurses and hair-dressers, choose the "lazy" type of holiday in great numbers. Long idle hours of sunbathing on a beach is their idea of perfect relaxation and change. Mannequins, I understand, are an exception. They spend their fortnight or three weeks queening it in the lounges and sun-parlours of big hotels at spas and seaside resorts. They have evidently no wish to escape their working environment. The seaside holiday is prime favourite with manual workers in general. If they cannot afford a motor-car, beach and car demand the minimum of physical exertion.

Girl factory workers have a weakness for the more popular seaside resorts. According to the welfare director in a London tobacco factory, four out of five of the girls have saved their pennies for a "dancing" and "parading" week on the Thames estuary. These girls are largely of the type recently described by an authority on London life and labour as interested in work solely as a means of livelihood, and they live all the year in the dream of their butterfly escape from the drudgery of the machine. They are out for a "hundred per cent. good time," and they get every fraction of it. They glory in the sense of freedom given by beaches and bathing-costumes and they can achieve pretty and effective dress more cheaply for this sort of holiday than for any other. Besides, there is always the hope of a dramatic rescue from drowning by the handsomest man on the beach. A thoroughly legitimate and natural aspiration.

Mothers (theirs is, one presumes, a recognised full-time job, or it should be), do like to be beside the seaside perhaps more heartily than any others of the world's workers, because the sea is the finest nurse there is. They can rest for hours while the children dig or paddle. But what an excellent thing it would be if the Corporations of seaside places would institute "beach nurseries," properly equipped with fully-trained nurses, to relieve mothers of the sense of responsibility. Two types of holiday seem to be sweeping the board this season. The holiday camp or guest house is attracting a high percentage of holiday-makers. The only difficulty here is to keep an even balance between young men and women. This kind of life in hut or bungalow, "half-way between an hotel and a country cottage," with its central eating-hall, dance-hall, beach or gardens, and all kinds of organised games and sports, has special charms for the unmarried because it provides intimacy and naturalness in human contact. Married men with children like it, too. But their wives are not so keen about it because it smacks a bit of housekeeping. At some West End stores nearly 50 per cent. of the employees are going to places abroad, including tours and cruises. This expansion of foreign travel is becoming an important social factor, and I can only echo Professor F. W. Ogilvie's conclusion in his recent study, "Travel and the Tourist," that "A world which travels is likely to be a world at peace."

One hears on all sides about the development of a new kind of business holiday. An executive of a great advertising agency refers to it as "the creative holiday." His staff, women as well as men, definitely plan their holidays with a view to knowledge gathering. They go to a part of the country which they do not know in order to discover how consumers live there. The artists on his staff invariably go abroad "to see what the Swiss or the Germans or the Swedes are doing." Their work, he admits, is definitely influenced in typography and general presentation by things seen and studied during holidays abroad. The thirst for the acquisition of knowledge is penetrating to all classes. Even the "idle rich" listen to highly technical lectures on archaeology on board cruising ships. It is all very cheering until the shadow of the unemployed falls across the sun-bleached light of one's holiday. What is the unemployed man's or woman's idea of a holiday? A good job of work!

The Very Idea!

OYSTERS "AT HOME"

A Famous Epicure Who
Has Been Cured

By Eddie "Half-Baked" Kelly

SOME foul person has just reminded us that, as from last Sunday, we could eat oysters.

It seems that we are allowed to eat oysters any month that has the letter R.

The other day we read a treatise on oysters. All about sperms and bivalves and things. Highly instructive it was.

For instance, we learnt that an oyster in its early stages swims about. We have never had to swim after an escaping oyster yet, but it must be tiring.

An oyster has one foot, and on its foot it 'oists itself along. Hence the term "oyster."

After a while, it loses its footing, so to speak and is on the rocks permanently. This is sad, but we've all been through it.

But we don't care to know any more about oysters.

After seeing the internal works we have decided that the months in which one should not eat oysters are: January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December.

We are more keen on good, wholesome food.

As a matter of fact, we are seriously thinking of breeding elephants for the Hongkong food market.

Elephants' ears on toast, or maybe some elephants' trotters would go well with a pinch of salt.

Therefore, in order to popularise the elephant with the Hongkong eating public (of which, despite the depression, there is still a large number) we publish a few recipes.

Take one elephant. Peel and soak in the Shing Mun Dam overnight. Remove the ears (it is better to do this while the elephant is asleep). Fry ears to a dull black and throw on top of toast.

Serve hot.

A Good Roast

Joint.—Remove hind leg of elephant. Elephant will fall over. While in recumbent position, clean and scrape. Take middle portion of elephant and grease well. Lay on top of any large wooden building. Start fire in basement. Run for life. Come back in fortnight's time. (This is good with green peas).

Soup.—Take two elephants. Remove tusks and beat into a stiff froth. Add four gills of crushed bath-heater or, if in winter, crushed bath-tub. Stir well and skim with long-handled shovel. Simmer for three months. Some add muth-balls (this is purely a matter of taste).

A touch of lemon is always necessary, otherwise the dish repeats. The elephant never forgets but still one doesn't want to be reminded ALL the time. No.

EAT MORE ELEPHANTS!

"I guess what I should do, mother, is get married. Another woman would be a big help to you 'round here."

CRICKET MATCH AT FOLKESTONE

AN INNINGS WIN FOR TOURISTS

KENT TROUNCED AT LEICESTER

London, Sept. 3.
The English cricket season is quickly drawing to a close and with it the departure of the South Africans who have delighted English fans wherever they have been playing during the past season. The tourists have two more matches to play before they return to their own country with the "Ashes" for the first time.

The South Africans brought off one of their best performances of the tour to-day when, playing at Folkestone, they trounced a representative England Eleven by an innings and 109 runs after dismissing the home-side batsmen for a paltry 96 in the first innings.

A. B. C. Langton, the medium-paced spin bowler, who is the youngest member of the touring team, came into his own with five wickets for 38 runs.

Bruce Mitchell and K. G. Viljoen continued the good work of Langton by a valuable partnership which enabled the South Africans to declare their innings closed at 311 for five wickets.

Mitchell, who has been one of the mainstays of the visitors' batting, scored 90 while Viljoen was not out with 110 runs to his credit.

When the England eleven went to the wickets a second time the South Africans dismissed the side for 106 runs.

MEDINA AND CAVANAGH LEAD DUNCANS

LUCKY SHOT AT CRITICAL STAGE SAVES HONGKONG PAIR

(By "Sagax")

A desperate shot, charged with a silent prayer, to save what might easily have proved a losing count, turned a highly probable defeat into an equally highly probable victory in the final of the Open Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship yesterday afternoon when M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh, of the Craigengower C. C., led L. A. R. Duncan and R. Duncan, of the Kowloon B. C. C., by 17-12 on the 18th head, at which stage darkness made it impossible to continue, leaving the match to be concluded this afternoon.

It was at the most important stage of the game that Cavanagh sent down his last wood on a head on which the Duncans were lying six shots with the score standing at 16-12, in favour of the Craigengower pair. The head was fairly well built up without any apparent loophole through which Cavanagh could draw the shot or even save any great number of shots; but he played what appeared the only possible shot under the circumstances and with a fair amount of luck knocked one of his own woods in to secure the count.

When the older Duncan sent down a blocker for Cavanagh it seemed odds on that the Kowloon pair would register their six shots, but Cavanagh's feat in knocking up a wide wood and thus rescuing the combination from a precarious situation, was merely the climax to what had been a brilliant display given by him practically throughout the match.

CAVANAGH'S FORM

Had it not been for Cavanagh's deadly bowling the Duncans would have secured a commanding lead as the father and son were maintaining a form which required the best from the Craigengower pair to prevent them from assuming any advantage they might easily have been converted into a glorious victory.

Throughout the tournament the pair have been playing very consistently but I think yesterday they were in their best form and even if they are beaten when the last three heads are played to-day they can rest assured that their reputation as bowlers will not suffer any decline.

The younger of the two found in Medina a bowler who was capable of drawing dead to the jack quite frequently but he was not to be dismayed and times without number he was equal to the occasion either by dislodging shot or drawing second to prevent any big counts, and although it cannot be said with honesty that he secured the honours of the day for his opponent but only slightly the inferior of the two.

It is due to Medina to a great extent that the Craigengower pair were able to hold the lead throughout the match for he gave Cavanagh invaluable support, particularly on the occasions when the Craigengower skip was not able to reproduce his best form on any particular head, which, however, were fortunately few.

RELIABLE SKIPS

Jack Cavanagh reproduced some brilliant bowls although there were times when he was not as deadly as others. He was as accurate with his driving as with his driving but (Continued on Page 9.)

INTERPORT LAWN BOWLS

ARRANGEMENTS TO BE FINALISED

MEETING NEXT TUESDAY

Final arrangements for the entertainment of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Interport team, which arrives during the beginning of next month, will be made at a meeting of the Executive Council of the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association next week.

A meeting of the Executive will be held on Tuesday next, commencing at 5.30 p.m. in the Board Room of the South China Morning Post Building.

A draft programme has already been drawn up and this will be submitted to the meeting for approval while other arrangements, including the appointment of an Entertainment Committee, will also be made.

HIS 50TH SIX SCORED

A. W. Wellard Continues To Punish Bowlers

A. W. Wellard, the Somerset batsman-bowler, who has been scoring sixers with greater regularity than has any other player this season hit his 50th at Worcester recently. He twice put the ball over the fence against last year's champions.

Mr. Jack Peart, the Fulham manager, has signed on amateur forms William Charlton and John F. Lock, inside forwards. Charlton, who did well with Oxford University and Corinthians, helped Hull City last season. Lock has played for Wimbledon.

Good Form By Ryder Cup Players

EXHIBITION GAME SUCCESS

BEAT STRONG OPPOSITION

Two of Great Britain's Ryder Cup team golfers, E. W. Jarnan (Preston) and R. Burton (Hooton), played in exhibition golf matches with Mr. John Woolam (Hooton), the English amateur champion, and Mr. Jack McLean (Hayston) at Hooton, near Birkenhead, recently.

In the morning foursomes, Woolam and Jarnan shared all four with McLean and Burton. Both professionals frequently covered more than 100 yards with their drives, while the amateurs shone more in the short game. McLean's deft approach work and several long putts by the English champion proved valuable.

Woolam and Jarnan took the lead at the 3rd, but lost the 6th and 6th, to be one down. Woolam holed one of his long putts, for a 2, which figured the match at the 7th, and his side won the 8th to turn with the lead. They became 2 up at the 10th, but did not record another win. McLean and Burton taking the 12th and 16th to draw level. Both sides returned in 36 but the Anglo-Scottish pair had required 40 shots for the first nine holes as against 38.

The afternoon foursomes was equally keen. McLean and Burton winning by a single hole. After an opening half, in 4, holes were won alternately until a half came at the 8th. The 7th was divided in two, in fact, Woolam and Jarnan had figures of 2, 3, 3, for the last three holes of the outward journey, but turned all square, McLean and Burton having another 2 at the 9th. They won two of the first three homeward, but were back to all square with three to play before the Anglo-Scottish partnership won the 16th and halved the last two holes. The winners had a best ball score of 64 to 69.

NEW TENNIS HERO IN U.S.S.R.

Boris Novikov Wins Singles Title in Moscow

Moscow, Aug. 25.
A new champion, Boris Novikov of Moscow, now rules the tennis courts of the Soviet Union, having defeated Eugene Kudrjatzev, for many years Russia's leading star, in the All-Union tournament here.

In the ranks of women, Nina Teplakova, winner of the 1934 tournament, easily retained her title.

Kudrjatzev's defeat was a shock to Soviet tennis followers, for he has long been considered in a class by himself. This year, however, he was worn down by over-training with younger opponents, and was defeated in his first match with a little-known player. He did not even meet Novikov or Edouard Negrebetsky.

Tennis has been played extensively here for only a few years but is proving more popular each summer and tournaments are followed by an increasing number of people. —United Press.

F. X. SHIELDS

Frank Shields Returning To Lawn Tennis

COMPETING FOR U.S. TITLE

New York.
After eight months in filmland, Francis Xavier Shields, of New York, is returning to the major tennis wars and has his eye on a higher ranking this year and the National Men's Singles title too.

He has returned East and is entered in the National Singles Tennis Tournament scheduled for Forest Hills.

"I keep in excellent condition on the Pacific Coast," he said, "playing about 20 sets a week. I think playing on cement courts helped my game but I can tell a lot better after the first round of tournament play."

Shields, who lost to Vernon Kirby of South Africa in the quarter finals of last year's National championship, has won the Southern California Indoor title and the Ojai tournament since going to Hollywood, defeating Budge and Mako respectively in straight sets.

KEEN FOR TOURNEYS

"I'm keen for the tournaments this year—much keener than last year, after we were beaten in the Davis Cup challenge round," he said. "I'm really serious about it and expect to play well enough at least to move up a notch in the National ranking."

Shields is at present ranked Number 3. He was Number 1 in the previous list.

BRITAIN EXTENDS GERMANY

ATHLETIC MEET AT MUNICH

TWO OUTSTANDING FEATS

Munich, Aug. 11.
Germany beat Great Britain in the athletic meeting at Munich by 75 points to 61. Considering that Germany is athletically the strongest nation in Europe, the British team may congratulate themselves on having made the result so close, especially as the majority of them are past their best at the tail end of a severe season. Moreover, the team did not include two of our best track athletes—S. C. Wooderson in the 1,500 metres and J. V. Powell in the 800.

One of the key events was the 100 metres, the first on the programme, and Germany won it, Leichun beating Sweeney by a yard in the final time of 10.4 sec. Borchmeyer, the German champion, was third, and Walter Rangeley fourth. J. C. Stothard, who is past his best for this season, put in a characteristic finish to beat the German 600 metres champion, Dessecker, by two yards in 1 min. 54.4 sec.

The best performances of the day were those of W. Roberts in the 400 metres and D. O. Finlay in the hurdles. Roberts, in his first meeting with A. G. K. Brown, won by five yards, beating the German record by 1-10 in 47.7 sec., equivalent to a 1/4 mile in 48.1 sec. Brown's time of 48.4 shows that he is not now at his best, which is hardly surprising for he has been racing ever since he went up to Cambridge last October.

Finlay, by winning the hurdles four yards ahead of Wegener in 14.4 sec., put himself in the running for the Olympic championship. His time, which is only 1-5 sec. outside world's record and half a second faster than he has done in England this summer, is an interesting commentary on the faster conditions prevailing on the continent.

The 200 metres resulted in a dead-heat between A. W. Sweeney and Walter Rangeley in 21.9 sec., a time which is so slow as to suggest a misprint. This is the third time Sweeney and Rangeley have met, and each time they have given the judges some awkward moments. Both the German sprinters have run nearly half a dozen yards faster than this during the summer.

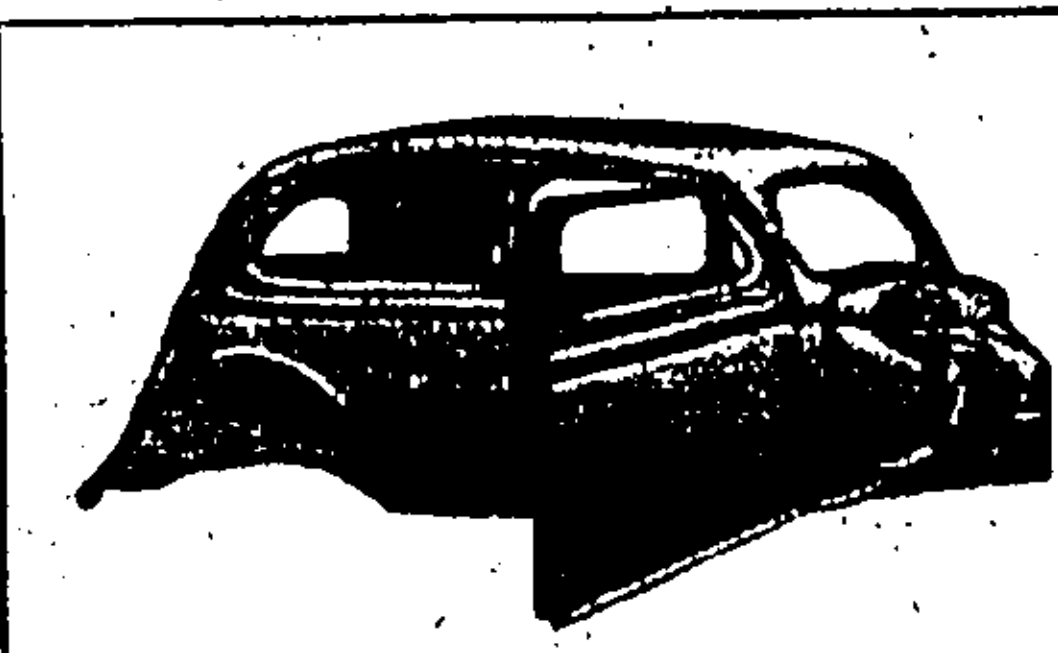

RACE OF THE MEETING

The 1,500 metres, another key event, went to Germany, and proved the race of the meeting. Schaumbury won by a short yard from T. M. Riddell, the Scottish champion, in 3 min. 54 sec., with A. V. Reeve, probably suffering from the after-effects of his effort in the Glasgow Rangers' invitation race, third, three yards behind Riddell, to whom he gave 10 yards and a beating at Ibrox Park. The winner's time is the equivalent of a mile in about 4 min. 13 sec. I still think it a pity that R. H. Thomas was not put in this event.

In the 5,000 metres, Max Syring, the German champion, was, as had been expected, too good for the erratic Beavers and the plodding Burns. He won by 75 yards from Burns in 16 min. 16 sec., the equivalent of a three miles in about 14 min. 40 sec. The last track event was the Medley Relay, in which Brown and Rangeley took the 200 metre stages, Scrimshaw the 800, and Hunter the 400. The British team led from the start and won by 20 yards.

The field events, of course, yielded practically the maximum number of points to the Germans. The only man in our team to stem the tide was S. R. West, who was second in the high jump, at 6 ft. 0 1/2 in. Duncan might also have been runner-up in the long jump, as the second German only did 23 ft. 11 in., but a straggly run up has time and again proved to be a handicap of at least a foot.

Final Of Open Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship

MATCH ABANDONED AFTER EIGHTEENTH
HEAD OWING TO DARKNESS

It must be said that occasionally he wicketed his way to the jack at critical stages, either to secure the count or save shots.

Cavanagh negotiated some extremely narrow passages to save or score shots and the delivery which gave him a count of four in the fifth head was one of his best played efforts for the match.

There were occasions when the elder Duncan was sending down wicketed shots but it can safely be said that the majority of his deliveries were to some useful purpose and quite a number were invaluable to the pair. On one head he sent down three wickets through a narrow port and had extremely bad luck in not being able to secure the count. He was drawing unaccountably and had been able to chalk up the six on the 17th head when the younger Duncan had been little doubt that the elder would now be holding a certain winning lead.

The first head of the match went to the Craighower pair who secured a count of three when Medina lay a shot against the younger Duncan and Cavanagh knocked up a second and followed through for the third, but the Duncans retaliated with a two on the second head.

A lucky wicket gave Cavanagh the shot when the younger were lying two on the third head, the score now being 4-2. A single to the Duncans was negative when Cavanagh knocked the jack to four back woods when the Kowloon Bowling Green pair were lying two, on the next head to make the score 8-4.

LEAD INCREASED

The Craighower players instantly increased the lead to 11-3 when Cavanagh had a duel with Duncan when Medina was lying two. Duncan's only game was to dislodge and this he did successfully twice but each time Cavanagh was able to replace the shot to register a three.

Another lucky wicket by Cavanagh saved a count of two when he drew second shot on the seventh head. After the leaders scored another single the Duncans showed up more prominently and chalked up five shots on the next four heads, the score at the end of the 12th being 12-9.

On the 13th head Cavanagh negotiated a narrow passage to cut the jack to two back woods and increased the lead to 14-9.

The fifteenth head was the best of the day with each player in turn changing the lie until Cavanagh secured the count to make the score 15-10.

Then came the famous seventeenth head to give Medina and Cavanagh a count of one against a lie of six to Somerset, showed his form as a bowler when he took five wickets for 44 runs against Sussex at Taunton but his effort was not sufficient to save his team from losing first innings points.

Somerset was dismissed for 198 runs and then Sussex made 233, Wellard taking five for 41 but when Somerset had made another 37 for three wickets no further play was possible.

LANCASHIRE DRAW

In a match between Lancashire, last year's champions, and Sir Julien Cahn's Eleven rain prevented a decision from being reached.

The County side had 352 runs on the board when the last wicket fell while Sir Julien's eleven scored 260, of which Vaulkhard made 88 without losing his wicket. Booth had six for 71.

In the second innings Lancashire put on 167 for eight wickets declared, Hall taking six for 75. At the close of play Sir Julien's side had made 144 for four wickets.

Warwickshire took first innings points from Gloucestershire in the match at Gloucester. The visitors had 405 and the hosts 240 in their first innings. Sinfield contributed 83 for Gloucestershire. Warwickshire had lost two wickets for 113 runs when stumps were drawn.—Reuter.

Y.M.C.A. HOLD GALA

Keenly Contested Events
At Kowloon

An informal swimming gala was held at the European Y.M.C.A. last night. Although the events were few in number, some very good swimming was seen, G. Fowler, in particular, putting up a very fine show. Woods and Anslow also impressed and Mrs. Meade showed excellent form.

The water polo match between the Lincoln and the "Y" resulted in a win for the latter, by 5-0. The play on the whole was good, G. Fowler netting all goals for his team.

The following are the detailed results:

50 yds. men's free style championship.—1. H. Lange, 2. G. Fowler, G. Anslow (tie), 3. R. Woods. Time: 29 secs.

Ladies' 50 yds. free style.—1. Mrs. Meade, 2. Miss Lephare. Time: 31 secs.

Men's 50 yds. free style handicap.—1. G. Anslow, 2. J. Greenberg, 3. T. Ingram. Time: 30 secs.

Medley Relay, 150 yds.—1. Pte. Efford, Pte. Steele, Drm. Allison (East Lancs).

Ladies' 50 yds. Gentlemen (five lengths to seven).—1. Mrs. Meade, 2. Miss Lephare.

Mixed relay. Winning Team.—1. Miss Fowler, G. Fowler, J. Greenberg, G. Fowler, Ptes. Lockett and Efford.

Ladies' 50 yds. handicap (free style).—1. Mrs. Meade, 2. Miss Lephare.

Water polo match, Lincoln v. Y.M.C.A. 3-1, in the "Y's" favour.

Forest Hills, Sept. 3. In the fourth round of the U.S. Singles Tennis Championship, Fred Perry, the Wimbledon champion and holder of the American title, toyed with young Frankie Parker in their fourth round tie-to-day.

The match was played in a drizzling rain, but the champion remained entirely unaffected by the conditions. He won in straight sets by scores of 6-4, 6-2 and 6-0. In doing so, he gave the impression that he could have won every set to love if he made the effort.

Frank Shields, who has dropped out of International tennis to join the Hollywood rank of actors, had no difficulty in eliminating Dodson, of New York, in the same round. He won by 6-1, 6-4 and 6-2.

In the third round of the tournament, Roderick Menzel, the Czechoslovakian No. 1, defeated Laird Watt, of Montreal, also in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2.—United Press.

SERIAL STORY—

One I Love

by LAURA LOU
BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

JANET HILL breaks her engagement with ROLF CARLILE after learning he has been going out with BETTY KENDALL, a social girl and niece of a member of the company for which he works. Janet is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine, and Rolf is employed in an advertising office. Janet is still much in love with Rolf but he has declared that engagement didn't mean anything and accused her of not really wanting to marry him because she insisted on postponing the marriage until they had saved some money.

Janet is lonely and unhappy. One night on a street car she meets JEFFREY GRANT, a young engineer who has recently moved to the rooming house where she lives. A few nights later MOLLIE MILLER, who lives across the hall, persuades Janet to come on a blind date with two of Mollie's friends, AL SCHILDER and FRANK MULLINS. Janet goes Rolf dancing with Betty Kendall. On the pretext of a headache Janet leaves the party and goes home.

Weeks pass but she cannot conquer her loneliness and heartache. On a stormy, unclouded evening she sets out from the office, undecided where she will go.

CHAPTER XVI

The wind whipped Janet's coat back and the rain struck her face. It was more like sleet than rain. She had to hold the umbrella tightly to keep it erect. A dark, wet, thoroughly disagreeable evening. Still Janet stood there, hesitating. Which way should she go?

The sensible answer, of course, would be down Center street to the car line two blocks away. A stormy night, such as this, was one to spend at home. She could buy some food at the corner delicatessen, heat it in the gas stove and have dinner in her room. Afterward there was the book she had brought home from the library and the bridge game Mrs. Snyder's living room.

Yes, that was what she should do—and no sooner had Janet made this decision than she knew she would do nothing of the kind. Center street, leading to the car line, was brightly lighted and ahead three or four pedestrians—office workers, no doubt, delayed and now hurrying to catch the next car—could be seen.

Sixth street, which intersected with Center, was deserted. Its lights were dimmer and farther apart. There was no one at all in sight on Sixth street.

Janet, having made up her mind, pushed forward. The storm, the sleet and the darkness were far more welcome to her rebellion than the warmest of firesides. She didn't care where the street took her. Again she said to herself, "I can't go on this way! I can't!"

A dozen wild notions caught at her fancy. She would go away from Lancaster. To Chicago—or New York. But would going away help? Suppose she wrote a letter to Rolf and asked him to come to see her. No, suppose she telephoned him! Suppose—

A gust of cold wind blew her coat open just then and Janet jerked it back in place. The sidewalk, crusted with sleet, was becoming iced more rapidly. She had forgotten the storm, forgotten that the street was becoming darker, that there were fewer lights in the buildings she passed.

"It's no use!" Janet told herself desolately. "Rolf doesn't care. He'd make excuses. No, it would be better for her to go away. In new surroundings she would forget more easily. New York, she decided, would be the best place because it was most remote. The money in the savings bank—the money she had worked so hard to save—would take her there. Janet planned what she would say to Mr. Hamilton. He would give her references that would help her find another job. In New York she would meet lots of people. Girls and young men. She would go to interesting places, to gay parties. She would have beautiful clothes too, as pretty as Betty Kendall's!

Her thoughts ran on but in spite of the glamour of the scenes she pictured mentally, Janet's spirits did not rise. Underneath was the dreadful feeling that she would do none of these things. She wouldn't leave Lancaster because she didn't really want to.

Suddenly Janet stopped. Ahead a gloomy barrier loomed across the street, at its center a dim red lantern. The street was closed and Janet noted this as she realized that she had no notion whatever where she was. It was growing late. She had never come so far down Sixth street before but if she came there was no possibility of losing her way.

She turned. The wind colder as she faced it and Janet was chilled through. The sleet, too, seemed to be coming down faster.

Janet hurried. She walked three blocks and then drew a sigh of relief. Ah, there was the Security building lower in the distance! She hadn't admitted to herself that she was frightened but it was good to see that tower.

Two blocks more and she was in the business district again. Janet reached a street intersection just as the red light turned green. She waited, thinking that she would stop in the nearest restaurant. She didn't feel hungry but she was cold.

What was that noise? She glanced about. Nothing apparently. Life here and there was lighted store windows but there was not a person in sight.

Janet's fingers were like icicles and she kicked one foot against the other, trying to warm it.

Then distinctly she heard the sound again. It wasn't a cry exactly or a moan. It seemed to come from nearby and it was muffled, almost like someone weeping. But there was nobody in sight.

It must have been the wind. If the green light had turned red again and Janet had been hurrying on and thought no more about the sound. But the light didn't turn red. Janet, waiting, turned and looked behind her curiously. Almost at once she saw the figure in the doorway.

It was a tiny figure, huddled sideways and almost lost in the dark shadows of the door. The plaintive sobs were low-pitched, irregular, as though torn from the very depths of the childish heart.

Janet hesitated an instant. Then she reached the doorway and said, "What's the matter, honey?"

There was no answer but slowly the head with its knitted cap turned and a face appeared. It was a face that was grimy and tearstained. The sobbing continued.

Encouragingly Janet said, "Listen, honey, don't you tell me what the trouble is? It's too cold for you to stay here. Are you lost? Maybe I can help."

The little figure became erect and backed away. The light from the street lamp fell on the child and suddenly Janet saw that there were dark matted curls below the knitted cap. It wasn't a little boy but a girl wearing a bulky boy's overcoat that was too large for her.

The child's voice came tearfully, tremblingly, "Who're you?"

"Why I'm just—nobody important but I heard you crying and if you'll tell me what's the matter I'll try to do what I can. Are you lost?"

The little girl shook her head. "I lost my money! How much was it?"

A damp pasteboard box lay at the child's feet. It was empty now but the little girl pointed to it. "I was selling candy!" she wailed. "I had 10 bars and I sold six of them. Then some boys came and they—here the tears began again—they said I couldn't sell any more. They took the candy and the money! And I can't go home—"

The words died away in a fresh outburst of sobs. Janet knew that if she took the child to the nearest policeman her responsible bility would be at an end and that the little girl would reach home. Something prompted her to say instead:

"There's a restaurant over there in the next block. Suppose you and I go there and get something to eat. You can tell me all about what happened while we're getting warm. Would you like to do that?"

The sobs ceased. "You mean—it'll be all right?"

Janet laughed. "Of course," she said. "Perfectly all right. Here, take my hand so you won't fall."

Over the tile top restaurant table Janet Hill looked at her new acquaintance. Rose, the little girl said her name was. Rosa Silvani. No, she didn't go to school. She was five years old. She had a brother who didn't go to school either. He was crippled.

No, her father and mother wouldn't be worried about her because they weren't at home. Her father was always away looking for work. Her mother went every afternoon to a place where she scrubbed floors. Rose told all this slowly between gulping attacks on the plate of hot food before her.

The reason she had been selling candy, she explained, was because her father didn't have any money and the rent was overdue. Rose forgot about the roast beef and gravy on her plate as she told this. Two great tears slid down the girl's little cheeks. If the rent wasn't paid the Silvani would be "put out" and everything they owned set on the street. That had happened to the Morrisays a month ago.

Janet listened steadily. She tried to reassure Rose, who was such a little thing, such a baby! Janet could scarcely believe a child's face could be so entirely devoid of signs of childishness.

They arose at last. Janet paid the checks and they went out to the street. "I'm going to go home with you," Janet announced and they started walking toward the car line.

The sleet had stopped but the wind was colder. Ahead a man was coming toward them. Janet scarcely noticed him until he was almost beside them. The man stopped suddenly, caught Janet's arm.

"Let's have that handbag!" he mumbled gruffly. She saw the short black cylinder of a gun barrel and at the same moment heard Rose's scream.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Who can match the story of the career of sweet Shirley Temple, whose new Fox Film picture, "Our Little Girl," plays on Friday at the King's Theatre. She played unheralded on the screen. Wisecracks counted for a mid-day wonder sure to suffer eclipse. But instead, Shirley has eclipsed all the others, and kept her affections undimmed in the hearts of her public. She has brought something new to the screen, something that has been called precious and often insufferable and spoiled. Not so Shirley Temple! On the screen she is the genuine article, "every mother's child," a thing of graciousness, charm, wit, and wit, who don't like children have revised their prejudices because of her. She is childhood incarnate! But more; she is a screen star unspooled by the homage of millions.

"No More Ladies"

"No More Ladies," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new Joan Crawford picture co-starring Robert Montgomery, one of the finest pictures these two popular stars have ever made, will be screened at the Queen's Theatre soon. An uproarious comedy with strong underlying drama of the tactics used by a modern woman to hold the husband she loves, it was cleverly adapted from the Broadway stage hit by A. E. Thomas. The featured cast is exceptionally brilliant, including Charles Ruggles, Franchot Tone, Edna May Oliver, Gail Patrick and Reginald Denny. It would be a hair-splitting procedure to determine which turns in the most convincing characterization. With an inspired wardrobe by Adrian and lavish backgrounds by Cedric Gibbons, Producer Irving Thalberg has framed his picture with characteristic originality and attention to detail. Edward H. Griffith's direction surpasses his customary high standard.

"It's A Cop"

Sydney Howard is realising a dream that he has shared with ten million people in all parts of the world, starring in a Hollywood picture. And he is doing so simply because he realises every day to people who study newspaper advertisements, Sydney founded fame and fortune by replying to a two-line "ad." Sydney was first employed as a printer's traveller in his native Yeading, near Leeds. One day he was looking through the "Situations Vacant" in a local paper and saw the advertisement for a "Part Time Comedian." Having already done a good deal of concert work he applied for the job, and got it. The next step was to take up concert party work on a whole-time basis, and this happened in 1912 when he accepted an engagement with a concert party at St. Anne-on-Sea, near Blackpool. With this show Sydney definitely threw in his lot with the theatrical profession and as soon as he settled down to the business of making people laugh his worth was recognised, and a Bradford manager gave him a leading part in a musical show called "The Radium Girl," which proved so popular that it was produced in London and put Sydney Howard on the high road to success. Following a period spent in provincial shows Sydney came to the notice of a famous show called "Box of Tricks," put on at the Hippodrome. For the next two years Sydney was under contract to Albert de Courville, and appeared regularly in his revues, after which he appeared in variety and toured in all the principal cities of South Africa. In this way he continued his steady climb to success and so reached the first high peak of his career in 1927 when he played the part of Battling Smith in "Hit the Deck" at the London Hippodrome. This presentation gave place to an engagement with the co-entitled, the famous team of London glars who collaborated on co-starring terms in an intimate musical entertainment. The year of this show, 1929 saw Sydney Howard signed up by British and Dominions to make his film debut in "Splinters." When "Splinters" was shown it became apparent that a new and unique film comedian had made his bow and further films starring Sydney were eagerly awaited. His subsequent films, as a British and Dominions star, have been "Almost a Divorce," "Up for the Cup," "The Mayor," "Mead" for the Derby, a comedy based on the most famous race in the world, "It's a King," "Night of the Garter" and "Trouble." He comes to the King's Theatre to-day in "It's A Cop" which is undoubtedly his funniest film to date.

"Gigolette"

A conflict between gratitude to one man and affection for another is graphically depicted in "Gigolette," which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre. Adrienne Ames, Ralph Bellamy, Robert Armstrong and Donald Cook are seen in the leading roles. Her funds exhausted, an insistent hotel manager demanding payment for an over due bill, and no prospect of employment—the situation in which Kay Parrish, former society girl, finds herself after her father's suicide. She turns to her last hope, the owner of a shady night club in New York who had once offered her a job when he mistook her for a waitress at a charity garden party. Terry the proprietor, takes her on, sympathizing with her predicament. Into the club How comes Grace Emerson, vengeful for having once been cheated in the same club. He meets Kay, and when he is thrown out for refusing to pay his check, she sees him home. Their romance starts, with Terry as the third in a dramatic triangle. "Gigolette" is an RKO Radio release produced by Select.

slowed average of 300 miles per hour. Outbound on the north-westerly course to-day Sir Malcolm blew a tire. He was slowing down at the time, however, and was able to control the machine without difficulty, he says.

TOUGH LUCK

Salt Lake City, Sept. 3. "Tough luck," murmured Sir Malcolm Campbell when he was informed that he had just missed the 300 mile an hour average when he broke the world's speed record for the measured mile in Bluebird to-day.

He had covered the north-easterly mile in 11.83 seconds after he burst a tire when travelling at 280 miles an hour. But in the south-westerly run he only managed to reach 12.005, an average speed of 299.875 miles per hour, compared to his previous record of 276.816 miles per hour.

On his first run Sir Malcolm came within a fraction of beating the American aeroplane record, which is 304.98 m.p.h. compared with the motoring ace's speed, 304.311.—Reuter.

PERFECT CONDITIONS

London, Sept. 3. Sir Malcolm Campbell, driving his car Bluebird, with which he set up a world land speed record of 276.816 miles per hour, to-day attained a speed of 304.311 miles per hour at Bonneville Salt Flats. This was on the first run over the measured mile. A slight breeze reduced his speed on the second run, against the wind, and his average speed, which constitutes a new world record, was 299.874 miles per hour.

Conditions were perfect, both as to surface and visibility, but although the breeze was light it slowed down the car by about nine miles per hour, and Campbell, who is disappointed at not raising the record over the 300 miles an hour mark, has declared he may make another attempt to-morrow if the air is more still.

The engine stood up to the tremendous test magnificently. At the end of the second run, the nearside front tyre blew out, but Campbell showed wonderful nerve and kept the great car on its course.

The Minister of Transport, Mr. Hore Belisha, and Lord Wakefield have telegraphed congratulations to Sir Malcolm Campbell on his great achievement. Lord Wakefield says that in raising the world land speed record to such an astonishing figure, "you have nobly upheld the high reputation of British engineering and earned the admiration of motorists and sportsmen of all nations."—British Wireless.

within its full sovereign rights in granting the concession, a concession of an exclusively economic character designed to assist in the development of the country.

With regard to the suggestion that the concession is contrary to the Treaty of 1906, the communiqué says Ethiopia did not become a party to that treaty while the British Government which is a party to the treaty is not involved directly or indirectly in the concession.—Reuter.

FORMAL STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 3. A formal statement was issued by Mr. Cordell Hull later. He said Mr. H. Dundas, vice-President, and Mr. George Walden, chairman of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company (not the Socony Company originally reported) called to tell him that their company owned the concession granted to the African Exploration and Development Co., which was a subsidiary of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., and that they wished the State Department's advice upon the situation.

Mr. Hull informed them that the granting of the concession had caused a great deal of embarrassment not only to the United States Government but to others who were making strenuous and sincere efforts to preserve peace.

In the circumstances the Government believed it was highly desirable that steps be taken as soon as possible to terminate the concession.

Later Mr. Dundas and Mr. Walden informed Mr. Hull that the company had decided to withdraw from the concession.—Reuter.

DUKE OF YORK

London, Sept. 3. The Duke of York, who represented the King at the funeral of Queen Astrid in Brussels this morning, flew back to London this afternoon.—British Wireless.

MANILA-NAIROBI FLIGHT

FLIERS WILL CALL AT HONGKONG

DANGEROUS ADVENTURE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Manila, Sept. 4. Love of adventure has prompted four Americans to chart an ambitious undertaking, a Manila-to-Africa aerial jaunt, which will start from Manila on September 15, or shortly thereafter.

The fliers are Philip P. Whitmarsh and his wife, Margaret, both born in the islands; Ben Stone, radioman, with much experience in the Orient, and Ricardo Rinaldi, pilot of several years' experience with transport companies in the United States.

A Lockheed-Vega plane, similar in many respects to the late Wiley Post's "Winnie Mae," arrived from the United States and was assembled at Grace Park by mechanics of the Philippine Aerial Taxi Company recently.

Rinaldi arrived from Hongkong on the General Pershing September 2, to supervise the work of assembling. Stone came from Shanghai to build a special radio apparatus for the plane.

The ultimate destination is Nairobi, Kenya Colony. A spokesman hinted that the trip may possibly result in the establishment of an African-Orient airline by Mr. Whitmarsh, who has business interests in Nairobi including a gold mine, an aviation line, and a motion picture enterprise.

The fliers may go via Hongkong, Hanoi, Singapore, across India and Persia to Cairo, and then southward to Kenya. It is learned that the party was experiencing some difficulty in getting landing permits in India, Iraq and Persia, which may cause delay in plans.

The plane, after arrival in Nairobi, will be placed in transport service.

Stone, a native of Brooklyn, New York, may go into the prospective Italo-Ethiopian war zone.

The Manila-Hongkong hop is believed to be the most dangerous. It is recalled that Glenn W. Brophy, American veteran flier, lost his life in attempting to fly from Macao to San Fernando, La Union province, in 1931. To minimize any possible danger on this route the group may fly from Manila to Vigan, Ilocos Sur province, following the Luzon coastline, and refuel there for the flight across the China Sea to Hongkong.—United Press.

LABOUR MUST BACK LEAGUE

BRITAIN SEEKING FRENCH SUPPORT

(Special to "Telegraph")

London, Sept. 3. At a joint meeting of the Trade Union Congress General Council and the Labour Party Executive at Margate, a resolution was framed for submission to a mass meeting of French Labourites, to be held in Paris.

The resolution affirms that the Labour movement in both countries demands that their respective Governments unreservedly uphold the obligations of the League Covenant, with a view to safeguarding world peace.

Practically all the members of the British Labour Executive attended the meeting.—Reuter Special.

TIENTSIN EXPLOSION

ETHER BLAST IN RAILWAY STATION

Tientsin, Sept. 4. An explosion of cases of ether in the baggage-room of the Tientsin eastern railway station yesterday afternoon caused injuries to eleven persons, two of whom are in a serious condition.

Ten wooden cases containing the ether in bottles had been brought up to the station by a Japanese forwarding concern, which did not declare the nature of the cargo, and, contrary to regulation, intended to despatch it by passenger train.

The explosion occurred—as the consignments were being placed on scales to be weighed.—Reuter.

BANK OF CANTON CLOSES

seas Chinese had shrunk considerably in volume.

"Many of the overseas Chinese," he continued, "have lost their employment, due to the depression, and so their deposits in Hongkong and China have been withdrawn. This is also due to the unfavourable exchange. They have withdrawn their deposits because they have their families to support."

"Due to unemployment and exchange, the money withdrawn is greater than the deposits; also there has been some excitement among the depositors in general," he added.

Mr. Li pointed out that the Directors of the Bank had tried their utmost to save the difficult situation, but the outflow of money had been so great that it was found impossible. A meeting of the Directors was held yesterday.

REORGANISATION PLAN

"We cannot tell for how long we will suspend payment; there will be a meeting of the Directors and also a meeting of the creditors of the Bank in order to work out a reorganisation scheme," said Mr. Li.

Mr. Li added that at the meeting the Directors will propose certain schemes which will be put into action pending the decision of the creditors.

Mr. Li stated there had been no panic and no run on the Bank. The withdrawal of money exceeding the deposits by overseas Chinese had been going on for the past three years, he said.

LOCAL DOLLAR ADVANCES

BUT MARKET UNCERTAIN

The Hongkong dollar advanced a farthing this morning the official rate on opening being 1s. 11 3/4d. The business rates were 2s. 6d. sellers and 2s. 0 1/8d. buyers, the market being rather uncertain.

In London, silver rose a farthing spot and 3/8ths forward yesterday. China bought, while India operated both ways, offerings being small. Reuter states that America was an unwilling buyer following the rise in prices, business being done at 1/8th lower than the fixed price.

Silver prices were unchanged in New York.

GLASGOW PORT PROSPERITY

MARKED INCREASE IN SHIPPING

London, Sept. 3. Considerable general expansion in the trade of Glasgow as a port, illustrating the improvement of heavy industries on the Clyde, was announced at a meeting to-day of the Clyde Navigation Trust.

During the past year, the total net registered tonnage of vessels arriving at and leaving the port was 13,699,071—an increase on the previous year of 681,103 tons, or 5.23 per cent. The total tonnage of goods imported and exported was 6,480,970—an increase of 364,518 tons, or 5.95 per cent.—British Wireless.

BRITISH FINANCES

London, Sept. 3. Exchequer returns show that the total ordinary revenue, excluding self-balancing items, amounts to £244,263,208, compared with £237,005,270 at the corresponding date last year. Total ordinary expenditure, exclusive of self-balancing items, is £293,665,120, against £287,244,208 at the corresponding date of 1932.—British Wireless.

TAIPO SLANDER ACTION

BRIDE AWARDED DAMAGES

The Taiipo slander case, in which a bride claimed $1,000 damages for remarks alleged to have been passed at her wedding ceremony, ended at the Supreme Court to-day when the claim against Lee Sang, first defendant, was dismissed; and Lee Kwal-sang, second defendant, was ordered to pay $250 damages and costs.

Plaintiff, Cheng Ah-tai, alias Mr. Lee Yau, alleged that the two men shouted at the ceremony on March 14 that she was pregnant and unworthy to be the bride of her prospective husband. The wedding proceeded later, though at first her husband was roused to fury by the remarks.

After giving judgment for the first defendant, Mr. Justice Lind-sell, Paine Judge, said he was satisfied that the second defendant made the remark attributed to him, that plaintiff was a pregnant woman.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for defendants and Mr. H. L. Denny, of Denny & Co., represented plaintiff.

BRITISH HEALTH SERVICES

GREAT EXPANSION IN KING'S REIGN

London, Sept. 3. The report of the Ministry of Health for the year ended March 31 last gives an arresting survey of the chief developments during the 25 years of the King's reign in the Ministry's main services.

Under the National Health and Pensions' Insurance schemes—"one of most memorable developments of public health"—16,460,000 persons are insured, and in the last ten years more than $160,000,000 has been disbursed in statutory sickness and maternity benefit and more than £90,000,000 in medical benefit. Yet so soundly has the scheme proved to have been constructed that during the life of the scheme it has been found practicable to expend a total sum of over £53,000,000 in additional benefits.

Health expenditure is shown to be a long-term investment of sex and age. The constitution of the population fell from 18.2 per thousand living in 1910 to 9.8 last year. Infant mortality in the first year, per thousand live births, fell from 105 in 1910 to 64 in 1933.

In regard to housing, the report states that some 168,000,000 acres, or more than two-fifths of England and Wales, is now subject to some form of town planning control.—British Wireless.

WORLD FEARS THE CLOUDS

Making Paris Safe From Bombs

EVACUATE PEOPLE IN EVENT OF AIR RAIDS

Paris, Aug. 30. A project aimed at making the population of Paris safer from aerial attack is rapidly being drafted by the Committee for the Improvement of the Paris Region for presentation to Parliament when it reconvenes next month.

Working with Henri Giraud, Director General of Public Works, the committee, which is headed by Louis Dausset, former president of the Municipal Council, is drafting plans to make evacuation of the city easier, to make buildings less vulnerable to aerial bombs and to furnish the population with masks and other means of defence.

The committee has indicated that it wants to make several changes

Even primary Japanese schoolchildren in Tokyo had their training when the Japanese Government staged two-day air defense manoeuvres in three of the country's principal cities. When sirens warned of the approach of "enemy planes," the children donned gas masks and dashed to a place of safety.

Air Conditioning As A Cure For Common Colds

WHAT THEY ARE DOING IN AMERICA

San Francisco, Aug. 30.

Colds can be "air conditioned" out of existence, while the common cold's highbrow companion, sinus trouble, is forced to retreat before the sturdy defence of antigens, recent experiments by the University of California showed.

At the University of California hospital in San Francisco 28 men were subjected to the unique experiment of "trying to catch cold."

Theoretically it should have been easy, for every one was chosen for his susceptibility to colds, having set an unenviable record of at least five or six a year.

In groups of four to six the men were isolated in an air conditioned room long enough to cure them of any trace of colds.

The room which was used as the experiment ward was completely cut off from the air of the main hospital. Washed air at a constant temperature of 70 degrees was constantly circulated through the room. A double-door air-lock minimised the possibility of entrance of "unconditioned" air into the ward.

When all of a group had lost all tendency to sneezing or snivelling the villain cold germ was introduced into the little medical drama.

An outsider was permitted to enter the room—an outsider with a bad cold. He played cards with the former cold victims. He talked to them. He drank from the same glass as they. He even sneezed indiscreetly now and then.

The doctors sat back and waited to see what would happen. Nothing did happen. The men who had been so notoriously susceptible to cold germs serenely avoided the snivels and sneezes they should have acquired from the cold-carrier.

The doctors reported that the men who had formerly cringed before the advance of a cold germ were now able to face the most obnoxious cold waited their way without so much as an inhibited sniff.

It has not been ascertained as yet, however, whether their amazing resistance will continue after long-continued absence from the air conditioned ward where they performed so admirably.

Meanwhile, at the University of California at Berkeley, Prof. A. P. Krueger of the Lacteriology department has been making a medical attack on chronic sinus infection—a complaint which in recent years is said to have usurped the place of appendicitis and colitis as a "popular" ailment.

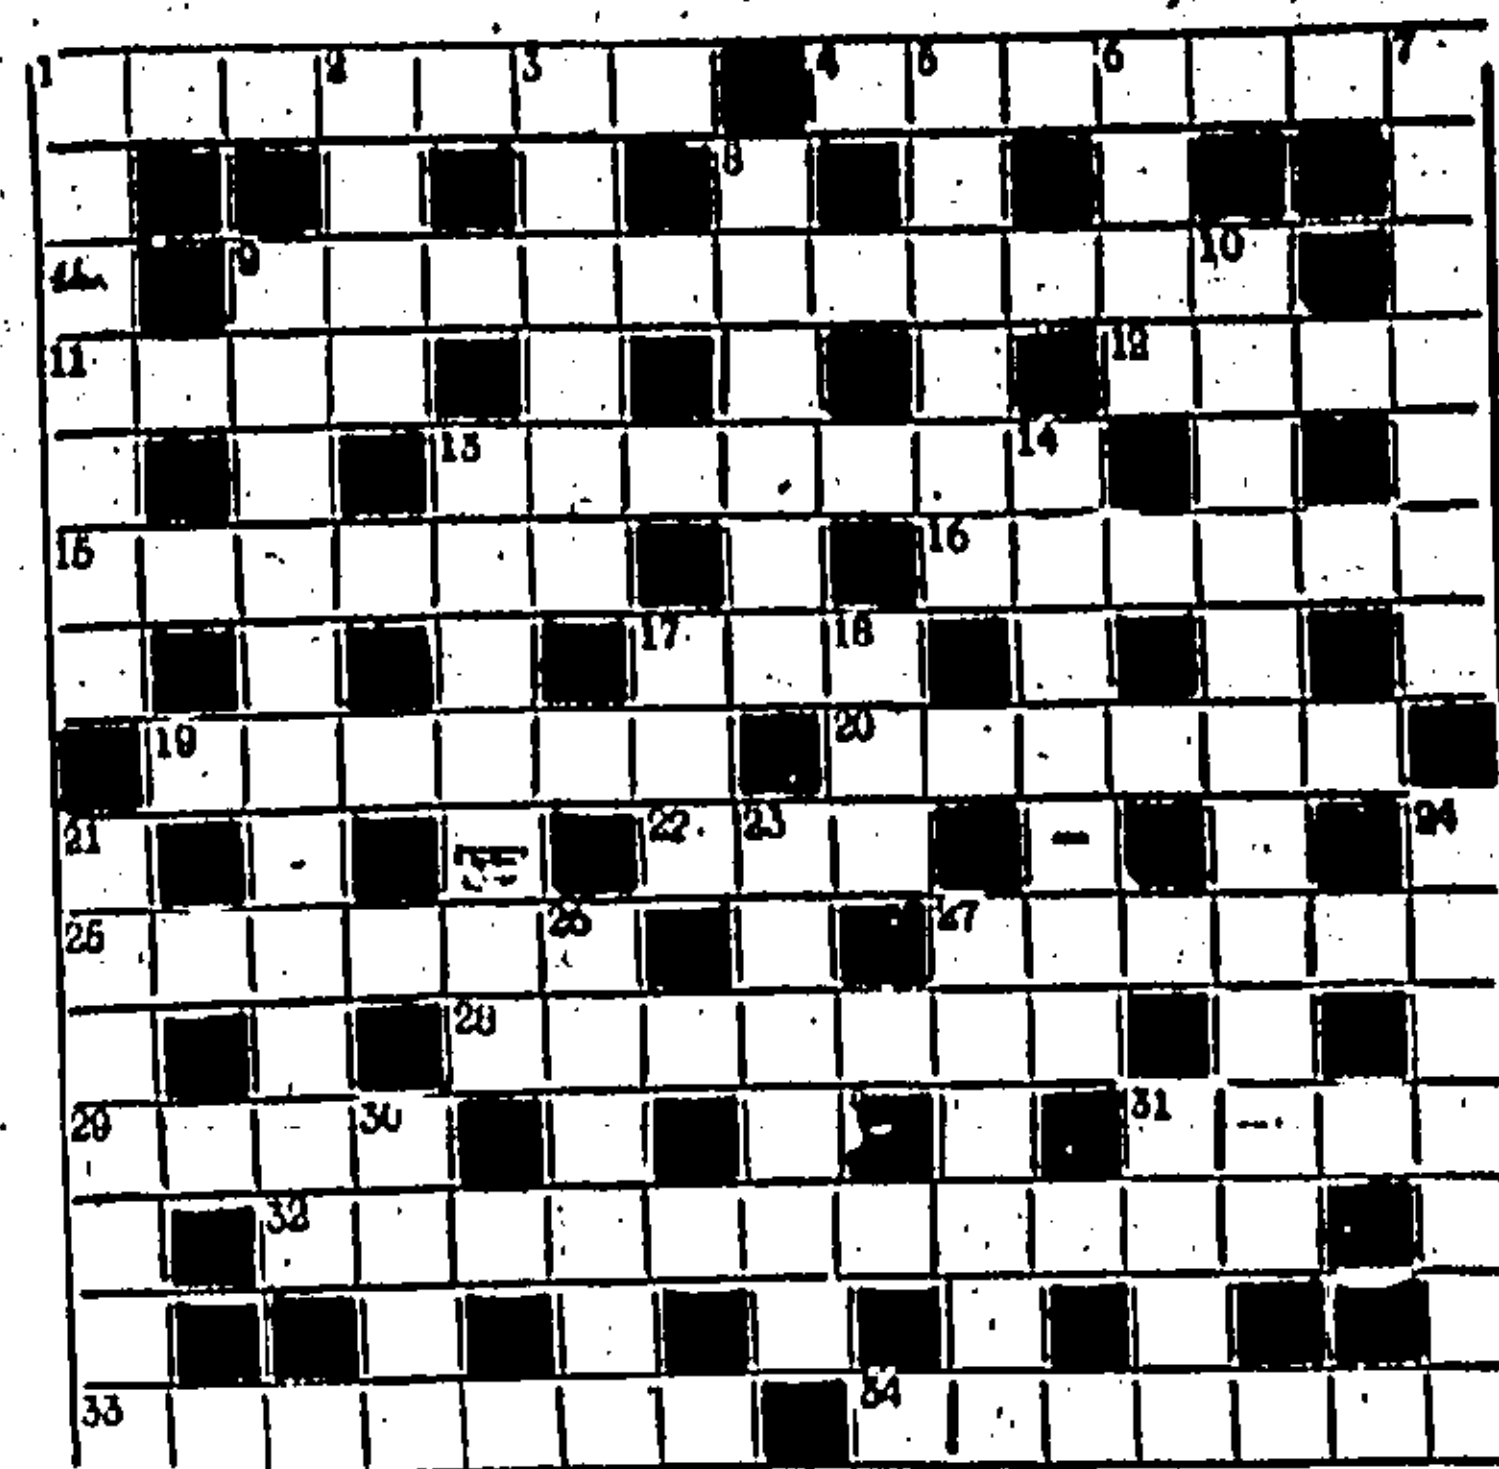

In a report appearing in a recent issue of California and Western Medicine it was pointed out that in a series of 51 test cases on which other methods had failed, the Krueger antigen treatment brought "good results" in 31 or 62 per cent. of the cases. "Fair results" were obtained in 13 or 26 per cent., while "no improvement" was noted in only 6 or 12 per cent. of the cases.

The report was said to be the more significant since it substantiated a similar experiment made by Dr. Forest C. Kraeaw of Oakland under similar conditions.

The University report was submitted by Dr. M. N. Hooser, who performed the experiment with undegraded antigens produced by Professor Krueger. His conclusion was that the Krueger antigens may be expected to yield generally favourable results in the treatment of certain types of chronic sinusitis.

Professor Krueger's antigens are prepared by grinding thousands of organisms responsible for sinus infection in a rotating mill containing polished stainless steel ball bearings.

IS YOUR CHILD TROUBLED WITH WORMS?

A common complaint with little children in the East, if the presence of worms is suspected the child should be treated without delay.

Some of the signs which indicate the presence of worms are irregular appetite, grinding of the teeth, in sleep, irritability, pain and swelling of the abdomen, irritation of the nose, bad breath.

The parasites deprive the child of much of the nourishing effect of food, with the result that he becomes thin and weak and his healthy development is arrested.

Baby's Own Tablets have been used with the greatest success in expelling worms, and are equally helpful in cases of infantile constipation, upset stomach, biliousness, diarrhoea, simple fever, colds and croup, and to relieve the pains of teething.

Mildly laxative, the tablets keep the little one's internal organs clean and healthy. Guaranteed under public analyst's certificate to contain no opiates or narcotics, the tablets are absolutely pure and harmless even to the youngest infant in arms. Chemists everywhere sell this health boon for little children.

Who Was
In Red Army

AN AMAZING STORY

London, Aug. 25.

An amazing story of his life in Russia and of being kept virtually a prisoner for 14 years was told by a young Londoner, Mr. Robert Greenfield, who has just returned to England.

He has been a member of the Young Communists' League, an officer in the Red Army Cavalry, arrested as a spy, and tried for his life.

Taken to Russia by his parents in 1921, when he was a boy of 14, Mr. Greenfield found that it was impossible for him to leave the country.

"It has taken me 14 years to get out of Russia," he said, "and during the whole of that time I have outwardly, at any rate, been as ardent a Communist as anyone. But my one idea was to get out, and, once out, never to return. When we first went to Russia conditions were almost unbelievable. Food was so scarce that a pound of bread was worth thousands of roubles. Clothes were unobtainable and people dressed in vermin-ridden sacks.

"Our monthly rations were 1/2 lb. of black bread, 2oz. of tea, and 1lb. of salt herrings. Butter was so scarce that I exchanged a valuable gold fountain pen for a pound of rancid butter. If you saw anyone wearing decent clothes you could be certain that they had been looted from large houses.

"The police did nothing to stop this looting. No one dared to speak against the revolutionary party. People kept their mouths shut through fear of the machine gun execution squad. There was no compulsory education. Children pleased themselves.

"We had to live like cattle until I joined the Young Communists' League. Then things changed as if by magic. I was given good educational facilities which enabled me, after giving a false age, to get a commission in the Red Army Cavalry. Life then became a bed of roses. I had as much food as I wanted. My people got an extra allowance.

"Most of my colleagues were much-married men. It cost 4s. to get married and 4s. to get divorced, and either party can divorce the other three weeks after the marriage on political or temperamental grounds. I did not get married myself, because I disliked the system and always hoped for the time when I could get out of the country.

"Finally, I summoned up enough courage to apply for my British passport. I was instantly thrown into gaol and accused of being a spy. My life hung on a thread.

"After months of uncertainty and rough usage in prison I managed to convince them that I was not a spy. I was released on condition that I left Russia for ever."

The Army
To Have A
New RifleIT FIRES 50 SHOTS
A MINUTE

FOLLOWING the adoption of a new light machine-gun for the British Army, a new self-loading rifle will be adopted shortly to take the place of the present Service rifle S.M.L.E. Mark III.

Exhaustive tests have been made with two foreign rifles and five British, one of which is gas-operated.

It has been decided to adopt one of British invention, and the War Office are only waiting the leave of the Treasury before announcing the type chosen.

The cost of issuing the new rifle will have to be met by a Supplementary Estimate and will be about £3,000,000.

The new rifle will be lighter than the present type by several ounces; it will fire at least 50 aimed shots in a minute in the hands of a trained soldier as compared with the 15 rounds a minute of the present rifle.

No muscular manipulation will be necessary for reloading as is the case with the Service rifle and consequently there should be greater accuracy.

The new rifle will be virtually a light machine gun in the hands of a good soldier.

Prince Mdivani Leaves
Fortune To Ex-Wife

ALREADY RICHEST GIRL IN WORLD

New York, Sept. 1.

Prince Alexis Mdivani, ex-husband of Barbara Hutton (now Countess Haugwitz Reventlow), has left a fortune of about two million pounds. The Prince was killed in a motor smash in Spain last month.

BARBARA HUTTON received another million to add to her riches.

£4,000,000
Fortunes
ForgottenMAYBE SOME OF IT
IS YOURS

FORGOTTEN fortunes totalling £4,000,000 are being cared for by the National Debt Commissioners.

The sum represents the value of British Government securities and their accumulated dividends which have never been claimed by the original purchasers.

One of these holdings—in Consols—is worth nearly £200,000. No one has ever come forward to claim it.

An Englishwoman living in Marseilles did not even know that she possessed a fortune amounting to £56,000 with accumulated dividends totalling nearly £20,000.

For years she had lived by borrowing or begging from relatives or neighbours.

"It is difficult to give the reason for the overlooking of what in many cases are substantial fortunes," an official of the National Debt Commissioners said.

Never Heard Of Again "Some people go abroad and are never heard of again; others, through illness or old age, simply forget that they own Government stock.

"Both the securities and the dividends accruing can always be claimed.

"But the responsible authorities do not go out of their way to discover the owners."

"The present practice with unclaimed stock is to wait until a claimant appears, and then to advertise for other claimants."

"The Bank of England is responsible for paying out dividends on Government securities. If such dividend is unclaimed it is transferred to an account at the Bank of England kept in the name of the National Debt Commissioners."

"There are more than one hundred batches of securities worth more than £10,000 each—many of them unclaimed for as long as thirty-five years."

Massage Made
"Dead" Heart
Beat AgainMANCHESTER
WOMAN WHO DIED

MRS. Gertrude Roberts, of Farrer-road, Manchester, "died" while being operated on in Ancoats Hospital.

Her heart stopped beating. Her breathing stopped.

The surgeon, who had been performing a nasal operation, realised there was only one chance of saving her life. He took it.

He operated again. He massaged her heart. After four and a half minutes it began to beat. The patient breathed again.

The woman who was dead had been restored to life.

Mrs. Roberts knew nothing of her escape until three days afterwards.

"My first sensation," she said "was that I had been in a motor-car crash."

"All that I can remember is the mask being put over my face millions of stars merging into one then darkness."

Mrs. Roberts, slight and dark-haired, is now perfectly well, although her operation has left her weak.

"Three days after my operation," she added, "my husband told me that I had 'died' on the operating table."

Her Only Illness

"No. I have never suffered from heart trouble. The only serious illness I have had is influenza."

The surgeon was Mr. Neville Young, of Manchester. He tells the story of his operation that saved a life in the current issue of the British Medical Journal.

It is a surgeon's story, written for surgeons. It tells how adrenaline was injected; how the heart gradually reacted to massage; how the original operation was resumed when the heart action had been restored.

And it ends:—

"The patient has shown no more interest in the affair than a fleeting curiosity regarding the presence of an abdominal wound."

Huey Long, who is mentioned as a candidate for the next American presidential election, seems to have other interests besides politics, and is here shown behind the bar teaching the bartenders how to mix drinks.

16-Year-Old Girl As ChieftainSCOTTISH CLAN
MEMBERS ARE DIVIDED

MEMBERS of a Scottish clan are split over the question:—

Shall a woman be our chieftain?

Five years ago Colonel Alexander Hew MacLean, chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour, Argyllshire, died leaving no male heir.

He was said to have been the best-loved chieftain in the Highlands. He willed his estate of Ardgour to his eldest daughter Catriona.

Catriona will be sixteen this month. Her mother, the Hon. Mrs. MacLean, assumed that Catriona, as her father's eldest daughter, would be chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour. The Clan Association disagreed.

They claimed that a female could be chieftain of the clan only when there was no suitable male heir in the direct line of succession.

Accordingly, some months ago the Clan Association welcomed Commander H. H. MacLean, of Bursledon, Hampshire, as chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour.

The Hon. Mrs. MacLean strongly opposed this move.

Other influential members of the clan support the right of Miss Catriona MacLean.

Miss Catriona said: "I want to be chieftain of the MacLeans of Ardgour as my father was."

"Commander H. H. MacLean is an Englishman, and he has no property whatever in Scotland."

"I, on the other hand, am the direct successor of my father's title, and I am heir to the estates of Ardgour."

"I see no reason why I should be passed over in favour of a man who is my father's second cousin."

"There have been plenty of examples of girls being accepted as chieftains of Scottish clans, and my mother and I are determined to fight any attempt to pass me over."

"We know that a great many of the members of the association are sympathetic to my claim."

FILM STAR SETS
RULES FOR SON

HE MUST BE SPARTAN

Joan Blondell's son has just celebrated his first birthday, and, to mark the occasion, the film "star" has formulated eight rules for his upbringing.

Joan, who in private life was Mrs. George Barnes, until last week, when she obtained a divorce, wants her son Norman to be Spartan.

"He's not going to be spoiled like other stars' kids," she declares.

And here are the eight rules she has drawn up:—

"My son is never going to be the 'best dressed' kid in the neighbourhood."

"There will be no nurse or governess to wait on him. I didn't have any of these luxuries."

"He won't have things too easy, for that's the easiest way to spoil a child."

"He will get no expensive toys. Joan Blondell for the neighbours' children or his father to break. I had loads of fun with old sticks and a bucket as a kid."

"He will go to a State school, where there are girls as well as boys; and, later, he will go to a military school for discipline."

He will never have his name or his picture in the Press unless he has done something to earn it, and perhaps not even then.

"He will be taught the facts of life as soon as advisable."

"No one," adds Joan, "will ever be able to point to my son and say: 'That poor rich film kid!'"

BRIBERY APPEAL SUCCEEDS

In their favour. The case which the Crown has put forward is in their own favour. I hold, though not without considerable doubt, that the Crown witnesses are not accomplices."

Counsel submitted that when a judge had considerable doubt, he should have given it in favour of the defence. But in this case it was exactly the opposite. Furthermore, the principal witness who said he offered the bribe could have been charged under the same indictment together with the appellant, as the law had stated that a giver or an acceptor of a bribe were equally guilty. A person who gave a bribe was just as bad as the one who accepted it. A case of this kind, unless it was carefully dealt with, might give rise to serious injustice.

In the present case the appellant had not had a trial according to the rules laid down, and therefore the conviction should be quashed.

CROWN'S REPLY

Replying for the Crown, Mr. Lockhart-Smith contended that the general practice was that before the two witnesses could be regarded as accomplices it must be shown that they were liable to be indicted either together with the appellant or separately for the same offence with which the appellant was charged. He submitted that the two witnesses were not accomplices and could not therefore stand in the dock with the appellant on the same charge. The principal witness was threatened into offering the bribe, and there was no evidence to show that he offered it voluntarily.

Mr. Macnamara said that what appellant objected to was that though they objected to the trial point about the two witnesses being accomplices, and though the prosecution strenuously objected to it, the trial judge made no reference to the point in his summing up. In case either of the two witnesses was an accomplice, a warning should have been given. The defence maintained that both of them, at least certainly one of them, was an accomplice, and the jury should have been told that, in this event, their evidence required corroboration.

SUMMING UP UNSATISFACTORY

The Chief Justice, in giving the decision of the Court, said that leaving out certain purely formal evidence it would appear from the learned trial judge's notes, and it had not been disputed by either counsel that the only evidence against the appellant was that of the two witnesses, Mr. Shing, who admittedly found the money which formed the bribe, and the witness Shui Shok-shui, who acted as interpreter. The appellant based his case to-day on two grounds: (1) that the trial judge was wrong in holding that neither of the two witnesses was an accomplice, and accordingly that their evidence would require corroboration; (2) that the trial judge misdirected the jury in that he did not give them any warning against accepting their evidence without corroboration.

The position of the two witnesses was a little difficult. After dealing with the definition of an accomplice, His Lordship said that in his view the nexus between persons in an action such as this was nowhere closer than in the case of a bribe; it was closer than in a case of incest on which authorities had been quoted. The actions of the giver and taker of a bribe were essential for the complete constitution of the offence of bribery, and he came to the conclusion that Mr. Shing clearly was an accomplice with appellant in this case.

It therefore followed that it was the duty of the trial judge to direct the jury in that sense, but nowhere in his summing-up was there any such direction.

CONVICTION QUASHED

Strictly, it was unnecessary for the Court to consider the case of Shui Shok-shui, but he was present during all the negotiations and was admittedly the channel through which money passed. His was essentially a case in which

EDEN'S MOVEMENTS

London, Sept. 3.

The Minister for League of Nations Affairs, Mr. Anthony Eden, motored this evening across the frontier from Geneva to Aix-les-Bains to dine with the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who is leaving for London tomorrow.

Mr. Eden arrived at Geneva early to-day to attend the League Council which meets tomorrow. Conversations with the French Prime Minister, M. Laval, begun in Paris last night, were continued at Geneva to-day and Mr. Eden also saw other members of the Council and the Secretary General of the League, M. Avenol.

The Council will hear a report on the Three-Power Conference which broke down in Paris on August 18 when the Italian Government rejected the Anglo-French proposals for a possible settlement of the dispute with Abyssinia. The Council will also receive the report on the Unilateral Incident of Ethiopia set up under the 1928 Treaty of Amity. The Commission which was unable to reach an agreement was originally constituted, finished its work under the presidency of a fifth neutral member, the well-known jurist, Monsieur Politis, Greek Minister in Paris. British Wireless.

WENT TO HELP
FRIENDTRESPASSER AT POLICE STATION

Chung Yau-heung, 40, travelling trader, was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning with trespassing at the Water Police Station yesterday.

Inspector Stinson stated that defendant was caught at the back of the police station near the cells, he was found to have in his possession a bag of cakes and some cigarettes. Defendant alleged that he went to see a friend named Lau Yung-wai. Inspector Stinson explained that the man defendant went to see was being detained and would be charged at the Marine Court for unlawful boarding. If defendant had gone to the Charge Room first, he would have been allowed to see his friend.

Defendant was discharged, and warned to keep away from the police stations unless he wanted help.

WANTED FOR QUESTIONING

The words of the Lord Chief Justice in King v. Cratchley clearly applied. "There was evidence which was fit to be left to the jury because in the case of such evidence it is for the jury to say whether or not he had such guilty knowledge."

Concluding, the Chief Justice said, "The present summing-up is unsatisfactory and the conviction cannot stand. It will be necessary for us to consider whether or not this is a proper case in which to order a new trial."

Mr. Justice Haydon expressed his concurrence with the Chief Justice.

Mr. Macnamara, addressing the Court on the question of a retrial, suggested that if one were ordered, it would place the Court in the position of quashing the conviction again.

The Chief Justice, with the concurrence of Mr. Justice Haydon, quashed the conviction and made no order for a retrial. He also thanked both parties for their researches into the legal aspects of the case.

PERFECT CONDITIONS

London, Sept. 3.

Sir Malcolm Campbell, driving his car Bluebird, with which he set up a world land speed record of 276.816 miles per hour, to-day attained a speed of 304.311 miles per hour at Bonneville Salt Flats. This was on the first run over the measured mile. A slight breeze reduced his speed on the second run, against the wind, and his average speed, which constitutes a new world record, was 299.874 miles per hour.

Conditions were perfect, both as to surface and visibility, but although the breeze was light it slowed down the car by about nine miles per hour, and Campbell, who is disappointed at not raising the record over the 300 miles an hour mark, has declared he may make another attempt tomorrow if the air is more still.

The engine stood up to the tremendous test magnificently. At the end of the second run, the roadside front tyre blew out, but Campbell showed wonderful nerve and kept the great car on its course.

The Minister of Transport, Mr. Hore Belisha, and Lord Wakefield have telegraphed congratulations to Sir Malcolm Campbell on his great achievement. Lord Wakefield says that in raising the world land speed record to such an astonishing figure, "you have nobly upheld the high reputation of British engineering and earned the admiration of motorists and sportsmen of all nations." British Wireless.

Canton, Sept. 3.

With reference to the cinema trouble in Canton it is learned in well informed American circles that all American film companies have decided upon concerted action to withdraw completely from Canton and to leave their property in the hands of local authorities upon their paying the censorship tax.

It is revealed that the companies offered to pay fifty per cent of the fees, despite the contract holding the theatres responsible for whatever taxes and incidental expenses there might be. Nevertheless the offer was rejected and hence the decision to withdraw. Reuter.

a capital of $11,000,000, of which $8,665,000 is paid up, and claims total resources of over $32,000,000. Mr. Look Poong-shan is the Chief Manager of the Bank.

CAUSES EXPLAINED

Seen by a Telegraph reporter this morning, Mr. Li Tze-chung, manager and cashier of the Bank, stated the depression during recent years had affected business generally throughout the world and therefore remittances from overseas Chinese had shrunk considerably in volume.

"Many of the overseas Chinese," he continued, "have lost their employment, due to the depression, and so their deposits in Hongkong and China have been withdrawn. This is also due to the unfavourable exchange. They have withdrawn their deposits because they have their families to support."

"Due to unemployment and exchange, the money withdrawn is greater than the deposits; also there has been some excitement among the depositors in general," he added.

Mr. Li pointed out that the Directors of the Bank had tried their utmost to save the difficult situation, but the outflow of money had been so great that it was found impossible. A meeting of the Directors was held yesterday.

REORGANISATION PLAN

"We cannot tell for how long we will suspend payment; there will be a meeting of the Directors and also a meeting of the creditors of the Bank in order to work out a reorganisation scheme," said Mr. Li.

Mr. Li added that at the meeting the Directors will propose certain schemes which will be put into action pending the decision of the creditors.

Mr. Li stated there had been no panic and no run on the Bank. The withdrawal of money exceeding the deposits by overseas Chinese had been going on for the past three years, he said.

PANIC IN BANK

Manila, Sept. 4.

Mr. J. Warner Brown, one of the officials of the American-Oriental Finance Corporation charged with embezzlement in Shanghai, was arrested last night on a warrant issued yesterday morning.

He was searched until late at night for bail of Pecos 20,000 and sent the night in custody of the Secret Service Police, who arranged to send him to Shanghai aboard the President Hoover.

He will travel north in custody of Captain Anderson of the President Hoover who is acting as a deputy United States marshal. Reuter.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEMARKET IRREGULAR YESTERDAY

New York, Sept. 3.

The following reports on the New York Stock market have been received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz:

The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market: Stocks to-day were dull and irregularly lower. Investment demand was absent and markets were lethargic throughout the day. Bonds were irregular. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were lower and dull.

S. C. & F. New York Office cables: The market was moderately low. The tendency was dull and there was a lack of any special feature. The United Gas Company has earned 95 cents per First Preferred issue during the quarter ended July 31, against $1.21 per share during the corresponding quarter of last year. The Electric Power & Light Corporation lost $0.40, 964 during the quarter ended July 31, against a loss of $0.47, 725 during the corresponding period last year.

New York and Chicago commodity reports received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz: Cotton: Small hedging is gradually depressing the market. Buyers are inclined to await a test of the 10-cents loan peg. The basis in Texas is reported to be lower. Wheat: The consensus of opinion is that prices will move higher and that fundamental conditions are sound, but public participation is lacking. The visible supply of wheat shows an increase of 4,468,000 bushels, whilst the visible supply of corn has decreased by 293,000 bushels. Rubber: Selling was subdued owing to talk of further restriction. We expect the market to show some improvement.

Hides: The cash position is strong and packers are asking for advances. Silk: The market displays no particular trend at the moment. Special News: Steel mill activity during the past week is estimated at 45.8 per cent of capacity, compared with 47.9 per cent the previous week. The Young Spring Wire Company today declared a dividend of 60 cents per share, on a $2 basis.

HONGKONG AS AIR TERMINUS

The report from Lisbon that the Portuguese Government has authorised Pan-American Airways to use Macao as the Far Eastern terminus of its proposed trans-Pacific service suggests the possibility of Hongkong being side-tracked in this important venture. It was in June last that a report gained currency to the effect that Pan-American Airways had been compelled to abandon its original plan of making Canton the terminus, and it was further stated that the company would be willing to bring its service into Hongkong from Manila, provided it could here link up with the China National Aviation Corporation's service. What is more, it was stated that C.N.A.C. officials were quite prepared to provide the link if granted landing rights in the Colony. In view of these reports, we strongly urged at the time that the Hongkong and Home Governments should reconsider their policy in regard to granting landing rights to Chinese planes, and we further pleaded that in this matter Hongkong should throw itself open to regular aviation lines, irrespective of nationality, thus making the Colony a free port for aviation, as it is for shipping. Prominent local individuals and interests warmly endorsed our plea. One of the points we made, in putting forward this proposal, was that if Hongkong did not seize the opportunity of making itself the Far Eastern terminus of the American service, other centres would seek to secure the privilege. At about that time, Mr. Bixby, representing Pan-American Airways, arrived in the Colony, and he also made a trip to Macao, where he doubtless conferred with the authorities on the subject. Indeed, it is more than likely that the development now reported from Lisbon is a direct result of his visit. It would be interesting to know whether Mr. Bixby, whilst in Hongkong, approached the local Government on the matter of making this Colony the terminus, or what is of equal importance, whether any attempt was made to get into contact with him. In any event, there can be no questioning the desirability of Hongkong being linked up with the trans-Pacific service. For this reason,

NOTES OF THE DAY

ITALY VINDICATED

M. Politis, says Reuter, has completely vindicated Italy in the matter of that little clash at Unalul. That is to say, he holds that the Ethiopian tribesmen there were the aggressors. The finding of this neutral member of the Commission of Conciliation should, as European capitals apparently expect, ease the tension at present existing on the eve of the League Council meeting which will consider the rights and wrongs of Italy's case against Ethiopia. Yet we cannot but doubt that the Conciliators' efforts will be effectual. In the first place, the naming of an aggressor in the Unalul affair means very little, in the circumstances. The real issue in respect of the Unalul brush, in which there were dead on both sides, is that of possession. If Unalul is inside Italian territory, then Ethiopian aggression cannot be condoned. If, on the other hand, Unalul is outside the Italian zone of responsibility the Ethiopian "aggression" is unfortunately termed. It is unlikely that the full report of M. Politis' findings will be made known until after the meeting of the League Council to-day; and we therefore cannot know whether the question of the opposing territorial claims was taken into consideration when Ethiopia was named "aggressor." A supposition that Italy's action at Unalul has been vindicated is very well at this juncture; but whether her subsequent preparations for war, her defiance of League authority, her declaration of a determination to subdue Ethiopia whether the League likes it or no, can be vindicated, is entirely another matter.

GUESS AT REACTION

We are going to chance a guess at the reaction which will follow this declaration of M. Politis. We are going to suggest that it is much too early for any optimism to claim that the danger of complications has passed. We do know that Ethiopia, according to the word of her Emperor, will do her best to make amends if the League finds that her actions at Unalul, and subsequently, were unjustified. But that Ethiopia's amends will be satisfactory to Signor Mussolini we very much doubt. Even at the beginning of this trouble Ethiopia agreed that Italy should be given control of her post office and police, among other things, and that Italy should administer her communications and transport. That was not enough for Signor Mussolini. There is a possibility that, far from easing the tension already existing, M. Politis' vindication may have the effect of stiffening the Roman back and making Signor Mussolini still more exacting in his demands. In fairness to Ethiopia it should be said that, thus far, that country has given the impression that it is more willing to effect a compromise. At the moment it has only two alternatives: to surrender or to fight. We cannot see that M. Politis has altered the situation one jot. Nor can we see that the affair at Unalul is justification for the invasion Italy is apparently planning, no matter who was right and who was wrong in that unfortunate affair. There is machinery for the settlement of such disputes, and it should be used. An invasion of the virtually defenceless Ethiopian Empire, and the complications it will inevitably cause, cannot easily be "vindicated," no matter what the provocation.

we entertain the hope that the Government, or leading public men interested in making Hongkong a world airport, will without further delay take the matter up and see whether Pan-American Airways can be induced to bring Hongkong into its scheme. We suggest that the subject be raised at the Legislative Council, with particular reference to the question of requiring no quid pro quo from China in return for landing rights here. If it is still true that Pan-American Airways and the C.N.A.C. are willing to link up in Hongkong, the last thing this Colony should do is to place any obstacle in their way. The matter is one of urgency; if action is further delayed, it may be too late to do anything. A message to hand this morning indicates that Pan-American Airways intends making use of Macao as a landing port, but that it will not necessarily be the only one in the south China area. Hongkong should therefore press its claims for inclusion in the Pan-American system.

HOW DO YOU DO ON HOLIDAYS?

By LOUISE MORGAN

Last year two London gardeners were given a fortnight's holiday at full pay. They got so bored after three days that they begged to come back to their job. These men are remarkable only as survivals of an attitude of mind which is rapidly disappearing. They are over 60, and with them will die the generation which did not know how to play. The heads of big industrial concerns, great stores, and other organisations which employ tens of thousands of young people, will tell you that the rising generation has learned how to get the most out of every moment of holiday time. The new training in the use of leisure is already beginning to show results in the industrial life of the country. A young man who has collected data about the holidays of some hundreds of his colleagues, girls and men, in a City engineering firm found on analysis that the type of holiday has a distinct relation to work. The typists, whose job is sedentary, choose cycling, hiking or walking holidays. The "travellers," local and overseas, show a marked preference for the remote country or seaside cottage, with fishing as the main objective.

The girls are more adventurous in their choice of holiday. Most of the men, especially those over 35, tend to go year after year to the same place, often within easy reach of London, as if they needed the "escape element." The young women come back to their desks from the tropics and the land of the midnight sun. They like to get "as far away from the job" as possible so as to acquire "a new angle on it." This is probably due to the fact that their work is more mechanical than the men's. The machine age has bred a passion for "escape" holidays. From inquiries at travel bureaux I find that only the women who are always on their feet, such as shop assistants, cinema and theatre attendants, waitresses, nurses and hair-dressers, choose the "lazy" type of holiday in great numbers. Long idle hours of sunbathing on a beach is their idea of perfect relaxation and change. Mannequins, I understand, are an exception. They spend their fortnight or three weeks queening it in the lounges and sun-parlours of big hotels at spas and seaside resorts. They have evidently no wish to escape their working environment. The seaside holiday is prime favourite with manual workers, in general, if they cannot afford a motor-car. Beach and car demand the minimum of physical exertion.

Girl factory workers have a weakness for the more popular seaside resorts. According to the welfare director in a London tobacco factory, four out of five of the girls have saved their pennies for a "dancing" and "parading" week on the Thames estuary. These girls are largely of the type recently described by an authority on London life and labour as interested in work solely as a means of livelihood, and they live all the year in the dream of their butterfly escape from the drudgery of the machine. They are out for a "hundred per cent. good time," and they get every fraction of it. They glory in the sense of freedom given by beaches and bathing-costumes and they can achieve pretty and effective dress more cheaply for this sort of holiday than for any other. Besides, there is always the hope of a dramatic rescue from drowning by the handsomest man on the beach. A thoroughly legitimate and natural aspiration.

Mothers (theirs is, one presumes, a recognised full-time job, or it should be), do like to be beta do the seaside perhaps more heartily than any others of the world's workers, because the sea is the finest nurse there is. They can rest for hours while the children dig or paddle. But what an excellent thing it would be if the Corporations of seaside places would institute "beach nurseries," properly equipped with fully-trained nurses, to relieve mothers of the sense of responsibility. Two types of holiday seem to be sweeping the board this season. The holiday camp or guest house is attracting a high percentage of holiday-makers. The only difficulty here is to keep an even balance between young men and women. This kind of life in but or bungalow, "half-way between an hotel and a country cottage," with its central eating-hall, dance-hall, bench or gardens, and all kinds of organised games and sports, has special charms for the unmarried because it provides intimacy and naturalness in human contact. Married men with children like it, too. But their wives are not so keen about it because it smacks a bit of housekeeping. At some West End stores nearly 50 per cent. of the employees are going to places abroad, including tours and cruises. This expansion of foreign travel is becoming an important social factor, and I can only echo Professor F. W. Ogilvie's conclusion in his recent study, "Travel and the Tourist," that "A world, which travels is likely to be a world at peace."

One hears on all sides about the development of a new kind of human holiday. An executive of a great advertising agency refers to it as "the creative holiday." His staff, women as well as men, definitely plan their holidays with a view to knowledge gathering. They go to a part of the country which they do not know in order to discover how consumers live there. The artists on his staff invariably go abroad "to see what the Swedes or the Germans or the Swedes are doing." Their work, he admits, is definitely influenced in typography and general presentation by things seen and studied during holidays abroad. The thirst for the acquisition of knowledge is penetrating to all classes. Even the "idle rich" listen to highly technical lectures on archaeology on board cruising ships. It is all very cheering until the shadow of the unemployed falls across the sunlight of one's holiday. What is the unemployed man's or woman's idea of a holiday? A good job of work!

The Very Idea?

OYSTERS "AT HOME"

A Famous Epicure Who
Has Been Cured

By Eddie "Half-Baked" Kelly

SOME foul person has just reminded us that, as from last Sunday, we could eat oysters.

It seems that we are allowed to eat oysters any month that has the letter R.

The other day we read a treatise on oysters. All about sperms and bivalves and things. Highly instructive it was.

For instance, we learn that an oyster in its early stages swims about. We have never had to swim after an escaping oyster yet, but it must be tiring.

An oyster has one foot, and on its foot it "oists itself along. Hence the term "oyster."

After a while, it loses its footing, so to speak and is on the rocks permanently. This is sad, but we've all been through it.

But we don't care to know any more about oysters.

After seeing the internal works we have decided that the months in which one should not eat oysters are: January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December.

We are more keen on good, wholesome food.

As a matter of fact, we are seriously thinking of breeding elephants for the Hongkong food market.

Elephants' ears on toast, or maybe some elephants' trotters would go well with a pinch of salt.

Therefore, in order to popularise the elephant with the Hongkong eating public (of which, despite the depression, there is still a large number) we publish a few recipes.

Take one elephant. Peel and soak in the Shing Mun Dam overnight. Remove the ears (it is better to do this while the elephant is asleep). Fry ears to a dull black and throw on top of toast.

Serve hot.

A Good Roast

Joint.—Remove hind leg of elephant. Elephant will fall over. While in recumbent position, clean and scrape. Take middle portion of elephant and grease well. Lay on top of any large wooden building. Start fire in basement. Run for life. Come back in fortnight's time. (This is good with green peas).

Soup.—Take two elephants. Remove tusks and beat into a stiff froth. Add four gills of crushed bath-heater or, if in winter, crushed bath-tub. Stir well, and skim with long-handled shovel. Simmer for three months. Some add moth-balls (this is purely a matter of taste).

A touch of lemon is always necessary, otherwise the dish repeats. The elephant never forgets but still one doesn't want to be reminded ALL the time. No.

EAT MORE ELEPHANTS!

"I guess what I should do, mother, is get married. Another woman would be a big help to you around here."

MANILA-NAIROBI FLIGHT

FLIERS WILL CALL AT HONGKONG

DANGEROUS ADVENTURE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Manila, Sept. 4. Love of adventure has prompted four Americans to chart an ambitious undertaking, a Manila-to-Africa aerial jaunt, which will start from Manila on September 15, or shortly thereafter.

The fliers are Philip P. Whitmarsh and his wife, Margaret, both born in the islands; Ben Stone, radioman, with much experience in the Orient, and Ricardo Rinaldi, pilot of several years' experience in the United States. A Lockheed-Vega plane, similar in many respects to the late Wiley Post's "Winne Mae," arrived from the United States and was assembled at Grace Park by mechanics of the Philippine Aerial Taxi Company recently.

Rinaldi arrived from Hongkong on the General Pershing September 2, to supervise the work of assembly. Stone came from Shanghai to build a special radio apparatus for the plane.

The ultimate destination is Nairobi, Kenya Colony.

A spokesman hinted that the trip may possibly result in the establishment of an African-Orient airline by Mr. Whitmarsh, who has business interests in Nairobi including a gold mine, an aviation line, and a motion picture enterprise.

The fliers may go via Hongkong, Hanoi, Singapore, across India and Persia to Cairo, and then southward to Kenya. It is learned that the party was experiencing some difficulty in getting landing permits in India, Iraq and Persia, which may cause delay in plans.

The plane, after arrival in Nairobi will be placed in transport service.

Stone, a native of Brooklyn, New York, may go into the prospective Italo-Ethiopian war zone. The Manila-Hongkong hop is believed to be the most dangerous. It is recalled that Glenn W. Brophy, American veteran flier, lost his life in attempting to fly from Manila to Vigan, Ilocos Sur province, following the Luzon campaign, and refuel there for the flight across the China Sea to Hongkong.

MARRIED MAN GAOLED

FOR HARBOURING YOUNG GIRL

Six months' hard labour was passed upon Cheng Lok-ming, 28, unemployed, of No. 2 Mongkok Road, second floor, when he appeared before Mr. Kennedy-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning on a charge of harbouring an unmarried girl, Lau Mei-sin, aged 18, between August 13 and 24.

In answer to the charge, defendant stated that he found a room for the girl at her request.

Detective-Sergeant Allen, in outlining the case, stated that on August 27 a woman, the girl's mother, Tang Kwai, went to the Mongkok Police Station and reported that her daughter was missing. On the 31st she went back to the police station and stated that defendant, who was suspected, was going to Canton, so the police went and arrested him on the Tin Yat Wharf. As the result of enquiries it was learned that defendant lived at the same address where complainant was principal tenant.

On the 13th or 14th defendant took the girl to the Chung Ah boarding house on the pretence of looking for a friend. They stayed there until 5 p.m. and left. On the 23rd, defendant together with the girl and another girl went to the Nathan Hotel and whilst there he asked the second girl whether she would like to go to Canton for a job but she refused and left at 6 p.m., leaving the two alone.

Four days later, defendant made arrangements and took the girl to Canton where she lived with his relatives. Before coming back to Hongkong defendant told the girl he would return for her on Saturday. Defendant's wife was sent to Canton yesterday to bring the girl back. The prosecution alleged that defendant and his wife were not on good terms and apparently he wanted to leave her.

TERRIBLE TOLL OF STORM

75 LIVES LOST ON FLORIDA COAST

PASSENGER VESSEL IN GRAVE DANGER

Jacksonville, Sept. 3.

Seventy-five men have lost their lives and forty-seven have been injured in a hurricane which struck with suddenness and fury to-day.

The casualties were suffered in the War Veterans' relief camp on the islands near Key West, where evacuation was commenced yesterday when reports of the nearness of the storm were first received.

Motorboats are rushing to the camp from the United States Naval Station at Key West, taking aid to the survivors of the disaster, who are without food or water and who may be beyond the reach of assistance for some time yet. The weather is still very heavy and the task of the relief boats a hazardous one.

SHIP'S DANGER

Notwithstanding the mountainous seas which are running off the coast, the steamers Limon, Reaper and Platano have fought their way to a point off the reef where the passenger vessel, Dixie, lies stranded, pounded severely by the combers.

They are standing by the apparently doomed ship but have been unable to attempt to transfer the Dixie's passengers. They must wait for the storm to subside.

The Dixie went ashore in the path of the hurricane which did so much damage near Key West, and her wireless was put out of commission soon after she called for immediate assistance. She had aboard 235 passengers and a crew of 118.

Coast Guard cutters are fighting their way towards her.—Reuter.

The ship is pounding heavily on the reef, on the southern tip of Florida.

OFFICIAL DESPATCH

Washington, Sept. 3. The Coast Guard has made public a radiogram from the Miami Air Station, saying, "The following message is considered authentic:

"At F.E.R.A. Camp No. 1, Rock Harbour, Florida, 75 are dead and 47 injured. Four doctors have been killed. No medical aid, no food, no water, no medical supplies, no clothing. Request immediate medical aid, water and supplies."

FIERCE GALE

A tropical hurricane, say Miami reports, roared north-westward up the Gulf of Mexico to-day, perilously close to Florida west coast ports and cities, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Sarasota, Fort Myers and Tarpon Springs.

The centre of this erratic storm passed into the Gulf after whipping across the sparsely settled southern tip of Florida Peninsula, doing much damage to property and endangering lives.

It is unofficially reported that 75 were killed in Tavernier, a fishing village on Largo Key.

RED CROSS RELIEF

Red Cross workers are rushing relief and working desperately to move food to more than 500 war veterans marooned near the F.E.R.A. construction camps in the Keys, who are reported safe aboard a special rescue train, but halted and without provisions.

While storms are raging over Florida, New Mexico reports that the town of Satch is under three to six feet of water as a result of torrential rains. Brady, Texas, has been inundated by a cloud-burst.—United Press.

LOCAL SHOWERS

A weak anticyclone covers the Pacific to the east of Japan and a ridge of high pressure extends from it across Korea to the Upper Yangtze Valley. A shallow depression is situated to the east of Shanghai, moving E.N.E. A depression covers the Gulf of Tonking. The typhoon is situated in about Lat. 20, Long. 132, moving W.N.W. Local forecast—East winds, moderate; cloudy, some local showers.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

IT'S FINE TO HAVE A FRIEND YOU CAN TRUST, BUT FINER TO HAVE A FRIEND WHO CAN TRUST YOU.

Sanitary Inspector A. Auslin has reported to the police that while driving his car No. 516, in Nathan Road yesterday he collided with a lorry. Slight damage was caused.

Two San, 30, was sentenced to nine months' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy this morning when he pleaded guilty to returning to the Colony before his term of banishment had expired. Defendant was deported on December 11 last for ten years.

A woman named Tang San, aged 64, was brought before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy this morning charged with the possession of a piece of cloth at Connaught Road, near Hillier Street, valued at $2. Defendant gave a rambling story and said that he had picked it up. He was sentenced to three weeks' hard labour. Sub-Inspector J. Walsh prosecuted.

The wedding took place quietly at the Registrar's Office, Supreme Court, this morning before Mr. F. S. Whyte, Smith, of Captain Cecil Boyd Shannon, of Marble Hall, Kowloon, and Miss Edith Kate Hetherington, of Oakleigh Park, London. Witnesses to the wedding were Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Stokes. The honeymoon is being spent in Tientsin. The bridegroom's father is Major William Boyd Shannon, D.S.O.

Leung Kam, cook employed at Flagstaff House, was the complainant before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court this morning against Ng Yuen-hing, 24, travelling trader, who pleaded guilty to stealing his leather purse and was also charged with the possession of a razor blade, for an unlawful purpose. Defendant was sentenced to six months' hard labour. The incident occurred on the Canton wharf yesterday afternoon. Another man, Chow Chiu, 40, unemployed, denied charges of theft and receiving, and his case was adjourned. Det-Sergt. Cashman prosecuted.

PACIFIC AIR BASE AT MACAO

AMERICAN AIRWAYS ACCEPT OFFER

(Special to "Telegraph")

New York, Sept. 3. Following the announcement from Lisbon yesterday that the Portuguese Government had authorised Pan-American Airways to halt their planes at Macao, as the terminus of their trans-Pacific service, officials of the American concern to-day indicated that the offer would be accepted.

When asked whether a definite decision had been reached, Pan-American Airways officials said present surveys indicated Macao as presenting the best operating conditions on the China coast for the services which the Company now contemplates.

It is evident that the Company intends using Macao as the present terminal of the trans-Pacific service, but the impression gained was that it would not necessarily be the only one.

Yesterday's Lisbon message also stated that Pan-American Airways are seeking permission to establish radio-telegraphic and chronometric stations at Macao.—United Press.

MORE TREASURY PROSECUTIONS

RECEIPTS WITHOUT STAMPS

Several Treasury prosecutions for unstamped receipts and splitting accounts came up for hearing before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy this morning. Sergeant J. G. Whitcroft, attached to the Treasury department, prosecuting.

Summons in respect of an unstamped receipt for the sum of $95.11, Yue Tak, of 31 Gilman Bazaar, was fined $10, as was Yue Sang Loong, of 86 Connaught Road West, regarding an unstamped receipt for $98.24.

A similar fine was imposed on Li Sap Yat, of 163 Queen's Road Central, on a summons of a similar nature in respect of $24.60. Wong Ping-hang, of 25 Chin Lung Street, was fined $10 for having an unstamped rent receipt for $50.

Ma Po-shan, of 293 Des Voeux Road Central, was fined $5 for having an improperly stamped receipt for $130.98.

Fines totalling $40 were imposed on the Tai Hing shop, 141 Des Voeux Road West, for splitting accounts for $35.47 and $32.26. Leung Tat-hing, 1, Jubilee Street, was fined $20 for splitting an account for $34.08.

MUI-TSAI CASES

TWO BEFORE THE COURT

Ng Tze-shu, married woman, 39, Pokfulam Road, second floor, appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning summoned for failing to report the intended removal of a registered mui-tai, named Ho Sul-lin, aged 16, from the Colony. Defendant pleaded guilty. Inspector O'Connor, Inspector of Mui-Tsai, stated the girl was away at Macao for four days. She was well treated by the defendant. A fine of $5 was imposed.

Yu Shu-sang, 39, married woman, of 16 Tin Lok Lane, was summoned for failing to register her mui-tai, Yu Shun-yung, 17. Defendant pleaded not guilty, stating the girl was the daughter of her sister-in-law and not her mui-tai.

Inspector O'Connor stated the girl was presented by her mother to the defendant for $30 two years ago. The hearing was adjourned.

HONGKONG LOAN WORKS

FURTHER VOTE FROM SURPLUS

At to-morrow's meeting of the Legislative Council, the Hon. Colonial Treasurer will move that the Council approve the further sum of $2,771,371 on account of loan works being met from surplus balances during the financial year 1935 pending the issue of a further loan.

A further resolution approving of the expenditure of $78,000 on the vehicular ferry during 1935 will also be moved by the Colonial Treasurer.

CRICKET MATCH AT FOLKESTONE

AN INNINGS WIN FOR TOURISTS

KENT TROUNCED AT LEICESTER

London, Sept. 3.
The English cricket season is quickly drawing to a close and with it the departure of the South Africans who have delighted English fans wherever they have been playing during the past season. The tourists have two more matches to play before they return to their own country with the "Ashes" for the first time.

The South Africans brought off one of their best performances of the tour today when, playing at Folkestone, they trounced a representative England Eleven by an innings and 109 runs after dismissing the home-side batsmen for a paltry 58 in the first innings.

A. H. C. Langton, the medium-paced spin bowler, who is the youngest member of the touring team, came into his own with five wickets for 38 runs.
Bruce Mitchell and K. G. Viljoen continued the good work of Langton by a valuable partnership which enabled the South Africans to declare their innings closed at 311 for five wickets.

Mitchell, who has been one of the mainstays of the visitors' batting, scored 90 while Viljoen was not out with 113 runs to his credit.

When the England eleven went to the wickets a second time the South Africans dismissed the side for 106 runs.

LEICESTER BEATS KENT

The wiles of "Tich" Freeman were to no avail when Kent visited Leicester and lost to Leicestershire by ten wickets.

The visitors scored 265 runs in their first innings while Leicestershire knocked up a total of 302, of which Berry scored 88. Freeman captured eight of the wickets for 123 runs, but the Kent batsmen collapsed in their second innings, being dismissed for 56 runs. Smith had five victims for 25. Without loss Leicestershire scored 21 runs.

First innings points went to Glamorgan in the match at Worcester where the visitors scored 239 runs against Worcestershire's total of 130. Jackson had six Glamorgan wickets for 79 runs.
After losing two wickets for four runs in the second innings Glamorgan played for a collapse by the Worcestershire batsmen by declaring the innings but at the close of play Worcestershire had lost but one wicket for 47 runs.

NEW TENNIS HERO IN U.S.S.R.

Boris Novikov Wins Singles Title in Moscow

Moscow, Aug. 25.
A new champion, Boris Novikov of Moscow, now rules the tennis courts of the Soviet Union, having defeated Eugene Kudrintzev, for many years Russia's leading star, in the All-Union tournament here.

In the ranks of women, Nina Teplovskaya, winner of the 1934 tournament, easily retained her title.
Kudrintzev's defeat was a shock to Soviet tennis followers, for he has long been considered in a class by himself. This year, however, he was worn down by over-training with younger opponents, and was defeated in his first match with a little-known player. He did not even meet Novikov or Edouard Negrobetsky.

Tennis has been played extensively here for only a few years but is growing more popular each summer and tournaments are followed by an increasing number of people. —United Press.

F. X. SHIELDS

Frank Shields Returning To Lawn Tennis

COMPETING FOR U.S. TITLE

New York.
After eight months in filmland, Francis Xavier Shields, of New York, is returning to the major tennis wars and has his eye on a higher ranking this year and the National Men's Singles title too.
He has returned East and is entered in the National Singles Tennis Tournament scheduled for Forest Hills.

"I keep in excellent condition on the Pacific Coast," he said, "playing about 20 sets a week. I think playing on cement courts helped my game but I can tell a lot better after the first round of tournament play."

Shields, who lost to Vernon Kirby of South Africa in the quarter finals of last year's National championship, has won the Southern California Indoor title and the Ojai tournament since going to Hollywood, defeating Budge and Make respectively in straight sets.

KEEN FOR TOURNEYS

"I'm keen for the tournaments this year—much keener than last year, after we were beaten in the Davis Cup challenge round," he said. "I'm really serious about it and expect to move up a notch in the National ranking."

Shields is at present ranked Number 3. He was Number 1 in the previous list.

BRITAIN EXTENDS GERMANY

ATHLETIC MEET AT MUNICH

Munich, Aug. 11.
Germany beat Great Britain in the athletic meeting at Munich by 75 points to 61. Considering that Germany is athletically the strongest nation in Europe, the British team may congratulate themselves on having made the result so close, especially as the majority of them are past their best at the tail end of a severe season. Moreover, the team did not include two of our best track athletes—S. C. Wooderson in the 1,500 metres and J. V. Powell in the 800.

One of the key events was the 100 metres, the first on the programme, and Germany won it, Leifman beating Sweeney by a yard in the final time of 14.5 sec. Huchmeyer, the German champion, was third, and Walter Tangeley fourth. J. C. Stothard, who is past his best for this season, put in a characteristic finish to beat the German 800 metres champion, Dieckacker, by two yards in 1 min. 54.4 sec.

The best performances of the day were those of W. Roberts in the 400 metres and D. O. Finlay in the hurdles. Roberts, in his first meeting with A. G. R. Brown, won by five yards, beating the German record by 1-10 in 47.7 sec., equivalent to a 4 mile in 48.1 sec. Brown's time of 48.4 shows that he is not now at his best, which is hardly surprising for he has been racing ever since he went up to Cambridge last October.

Finlay, by winning the hurdles four yards ahead of Wegener in 14.5 sec., puts himself in the running for an Olympic championship. His time, which is only 1-10 sec. outside world's record and half a second faster than he has done in England this summer, is an interesting commentary on the faster conditions prevailing on the continent.

The 200 metres resulted in a dead-heat between A. W. Sweeney and Walter Rangleley in 21.5 sec., a time which is so slow as to suggest a misprint. This is the third time Sweeney and Rangleley have met, and each time they have given the judges some awkward moments. Both the German sprinters have run nearly half a dozen yards faster than this during the summer.

RACE OF THE MEETING

The 1,500 metres, another key event, went to Germany, and was the race of the meeting. Schaumbury won by a short yard from T. M. Riddell, the Scottish champion, in 3 min. 54.5 sec., with A. V. Reeve, probably suffering from the after-effects of his effort in the Glasgow Rangers' invitation race, third, three yards behind Riddell, to whom he gave 10 yards and a beating at Ibrox Park. The winner's time is the equivalent of a mile in about 4 min. 15 sec. I still think it a pity that R. H. Thomas was not put in this event.

In the 5,000 metres, Max Spring, the German champion, was as had been expected, too good for the erratic Beavers and the plodding Burns. He won by 75 yards from Burns in 15 min. 16 sec., the equivalent of a three miles in about 14 min. 40 sec. The last track event was the Medley Relay, in which Brown and Rangleley took the 200 metre stages, Scrinshaw the 800, and Hunter the 400. The British team led from the start and won by 20 yards.

The field events, of course, yielded practically the maximum number of points to the Germans. The only man in our team to stem the tide was S. R. West, who was second in the high jump at 6 ft. 0 in. Duncan might also have been runner-up in the long jump, as the second German only did 23 ft. 1 in., but a strange run up has time and again proved to be a handicap of at least a foot.

MEDINA AND CAVANAGH LEAD DUNCANS

LUCKY SHOT AT CRITICAL STAGE SAVES HONGKONG PAIR

(By "Sagax")

A desperate shot, charged with a silent prayer, to save what might easily have proved a losing count, turned a highly probable defeat into an equally highly probable victory in the final of the Oppen Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship yesterday afternoon when M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh, of the Craigengower C. C., led L. A. R. Duncan and R. Duncan, of the Kowloon B. C. C., by 17-12 on the 18th head, at which stage darkness made it impossible to continue, leaving the match to be concluded this afternoon.

It was at the most important stage of the game that Cavanagh sent down his last wood on a head on which the Duncans were lying six shots with the score standing at 15-12, in favour of the Craigengower pair. The head was fairly well built up without any apparent loophole through which Cavanagh could draw the shot or even save any great number of shots; but he played what appeared the only possible shot under the circumstances and with a fair amount of luck knocked one of his own woods in to secure the count.

When the older Duncan sent down a blocker for Cavanagh it seemed odd on that the Kowloon pair would register their six shots, but Cavanagh's feat in knocking up a wide wood and thus rescuing the combination from a precarious situation, was merely the climax to what had been a brilliant display given by him practically throughout the match.

CAVANAGH'S FORM

Had it not been for Cavanagh's deadly bowling the Duncans would have secured a commanding lead as the father and son were maintaining a form which required the best from the Craigengower pair to prevent them from assuming any advantage which might easily have been converted into a glorious victory.

Throughout the tournament the pair have been playing very consistent bowls but I think yesterday they were in their best form and even if they are beaten when the last three heads are played to-day they can rest assured that their reputation as bowlers will not suffer any decline. The younger of the two found in Medina a bowler who was capable of drawing dead to the jack quite frequently but he was not to be dismayed and times without number he despatched shot or drawing second to prevent any big counts, and although it cannot be said with honesty that he secured the honours of the day for the leads he was not overshadowed by his opponent but only slightly inferior to him.

It is due to Medina to a great extent that the Craigengower pair were able to hold the lead throughout the match for he gave Cavanagh invaluable support, particularly on the occasions when the Craigengower skip was not able to replace his lost form on any particular head, which, however, were fortunately few.

RELIABLE SKIPS

Jack Cavanagh reproduced some brilliant bowls although there were times when he was not as deadly as others. He was as accurate with his drawing as with his driving but (Continued on Page 9.)

INTERPORT LAWN BOWLS

ARRANGEMENTS TO BE FINALISED

MEETING NEXT TUESDAY

Final arrangements for the entertainment of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Interport team, which arrives during the beginning of next month, will be made at a meeting of the Executive Council of the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association next week.

A meeting of the Executive will be held on Tuesday next, commencing at 5.30 p.m. in the Board Room of the South China Morning Post Building.

A draft programme has already been drawn up and this will be submitted to the meeting for approval while other arrangements, including the appointment of an Entertainment Committee, will also be made.

EXHIBITION GAME SUCCESS

BEAT STRONG OPPOSITION

Two of Great Britain's Ryder Cup team golfers, E. W. Jarnan (Preston) and R. Burton (Hooton), played in exhibition golf matches with Mr. John Woolam (Hooton), the English amateur champion, and Mr. Jack McLean (Hayston) at Hooton, near Birkenhead, recently.

In the morning foursomes, Woolam and Jarnan finished all square with McLean and Burton. Both professionals frequently covered more than 300 yards with their drives, while the amateurs shone more in the short game. McLean's deft approach work, and several long putts by the English champion proving valuable.
Woolam and Jarnan took the lead at the 3rd, but lost the 5th and 6th, to be one down. Woolam held one of his long putts, for a 2, which squared the match at the 7th, and his side won the 8th to turn with the lead. They became 2 up at the 10th, but did not record another win. McLean and Burton taking the 12th and 10th to draw level. The Anglo-Scottish pair had required 40 shots for the first nine holes as against 38.

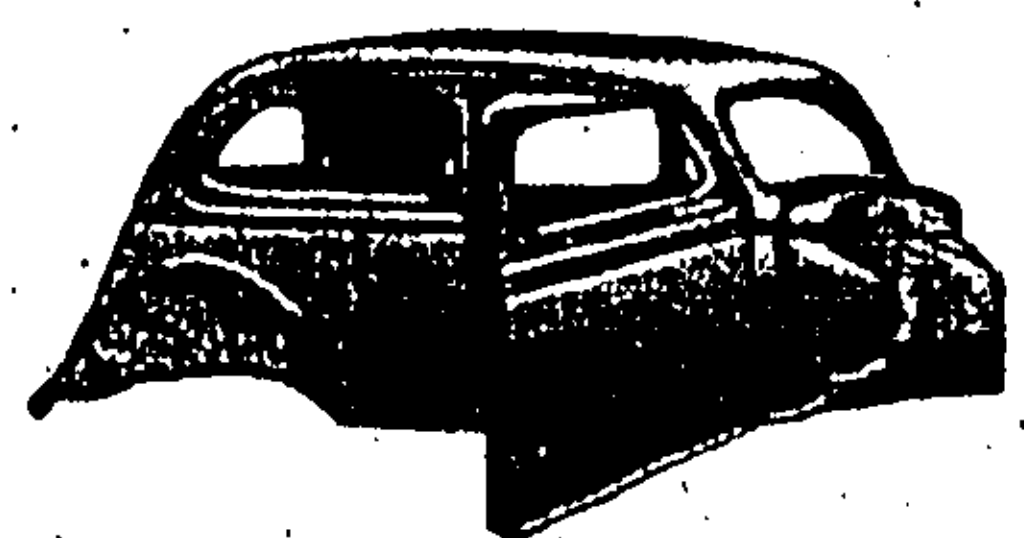

The afternoon fourballer was equally keen, McLean and Burton winning by a single hole. After an opening half in 4, holes were won alternately until a half came at the 6th. The 7th was divided in two, in fact, Woolam and Jarnan had figures of 2, 3, 3, for the last three holes of the outward journey, yet turned all square, McLean and Burton having another 2 at the 9th. They won two of the first three homeward, but were back to all square with three to play before the Anglo-Scottish partnership won the 18th and halved the last two holes. The winners had a best ball score of 64 to 66.

Final Of Open Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship

MATCH ABANDONED AFTER EIGHTEENTH

It must be said that occasionally he wicketed his way to the jack at critical stages, either to secure the count or save shots.

Cavanagh negotiated some extremely narrow passages to save or score shots and the delivery which gave him a count of four in the fifth head was one of his best played-for efforts of the match.

There were occasions when the elder Duncan was sending down wasted woods but it can fairly be said that the majority of his deliveries were to some useful purpose and quite a number were invaluable to the pair. On one head he sent down three woods through a narrow port and had extremely bad luck in not being able to secure the count. He was drawing unceasingly and had been able to chalk up the six on the 17th head I think there would have been little doubt that the Duncans would now be holding a certain winning lead.

The first head of the match went to the Craigengower pair who secured a count of three when Medina lay a shot against the younger Duncan and Cavanagh knocked up a second and followed through for the third, but the Duncans retaliated with a two on the fourth head.

A lucky wicket gave Cavanagh the shot when the Duncans were lying two on the third head, the score now being 4-2. A single to the Duncans was negative when Cavanagh knocked the jack to four back woods when the Kowloon Bowling Green pair were lying two, on the next head to make the score 8-3.

LEAD INCREASED

The Craigengower players instantly increased the lead to 11-3 when Cavanagh had a duel with Duncan when Medina was lying two. Duncan's only game was to dislodge and this he did successfully twice but each time Cavanagh was able to replace the shot to register a three.

Another lucky wicket by Cavanagh saved a count of two when he drew second shot on the seventh head. After the leaders scored another single the Duncan's showed up more prominently and chalked up five shots on the next four heads, the score at the end of the 12th being 12-9.

On the 13th head Cavanagh negotiated a narrow passage to cut the jack to two back woods and increased the lead to 14-9.

The fifteenth head was the best of the day with each player in turn changing the lie until Cavanagh secured the count to make the score 16-10.

Then came the famous seventeenth head to give Medina and Cavanagh a count of one against a lie of six to Somerset, showed his form as a bowler when he took five wickets for 44 runs against Sussex at Taunton but his effort was not sufficient to save his team from losing first innings points.

Somerset was dismissed for 198 runs and then Sussex made 233, Wellard taking five for 44 but when Somerset had made another 37 for three wickets no further play was possible.

LANCASHIRE DRAW

In a match between Lancashire, last year's champions, and Sir Julien Cahn's Eleven rain prevented a decision from being reached.

The County side had 352 runs on the board when the last wicket fell while Sir Julien's eleven scored 260, of which Vaulkhard made 88 without losing his wicket. Booth had six for 71.

In the second innings Lancashire put on 167 for eight wickets declared, Hall taking six for 75. At the close of play Sir Julien's side had made 144 for four wickets.

Warwickshire took first innings points from Gloucestershire in the match at Gloucester. The visitors had 305 and the hosts 280 in their first innings. Sinfield contributed 83 for Gloucestershire. Warwickshire had lost two wickets for 113 runs when stumps were drawn.—Reuter.

make the score 16-12 and when the eighteenth head was played and the score 17-12, the match was abandoned. On the last head the elder Duncan had had luck in not drawing the shot when he three times negotiated a narrow port.

Y.M.C.A. HOLD GALA

Keenly Contested Events At Kowloon

An informal swimming gala was held at the European Y.M.C.A. last night. Although the events were few in number, some very good swimming was seen, G. Fowler, in particular, putting up a very fine show. Woods and Anslow also impressed and Mrs. Meade showed excellent form.

The water polo match between the Lincoln and the "Y" resulted in a win for the latter, by 3-0. The play on the whole was good, G. Fowler netting all goals for his team.

The following are the detailed results:—

50 yds. men's free style championship.—1. H. Lange, 2. G. Fowler, G. Anslow (tie), 3. R. Woods. Time: 20 secs.

Ladies' 50 yds. free style.—1. Mrs. Meade, 2. Miss Lephare. Time: 31 secs.

Men's 50 yds. free style handicap.—1. G. Anslow, 2. J. Greenberg, 3. T. Ingram. Time: 30 secs.

Mixed Relay, 150 yds.—1. Pte. Eford, Pte. Steele, Drm. Allison (East Lancs).

Ladies v. Gentlemen (five lengths to seven).—1. Mrs. Meade, 2. Miss Lephare.

Mixed relay, Winning Team.—1. Miss Fowler, G. Fowler, J. Greenberg, G. Fowler, Ptes. Lockett and Eford.

Ladies' 50 yds. handicap (free style).—1. Mrs. Meade, 2. Miss Lephare.

Water polo match, Lincoln v. Y.M.C.A. 3-1, in the "Y's" favour.

FRED PERRY WINS EASILY

FRANK SHIELDS RETURNS

Forest Hills, Sept. 3. In the fourth round of the U.S. Singles Tennis Championship, Fred Perry, the Wimbledon champion and holder of the American title, toyed with young Frankie Parker in their fourth round tie to-day.

The match was played in a drizzling rain, but the champion remained entirely unaffected by the conditions.

He won in straight sets by scores of 6-4, 6-2 and 6-0. In doing so, he gave the impression that he could have won every set to love if he made the effort.

Frank Shields, who has dropped out of International tennis to join the Hollywood rank of actors, had no difficulty in eliminating Dodson, of New York, in the same round. He won by 6-1, 6-4 and 6-2.

In the third round of the tournament, Roderick Menzel, the Czechoslovakian No. 1, defeated Laird Watt, of Montreal, also in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2.—United Press.

A GOLF RECORD EQUALLED

LOCAL PLAYER DOES 18 HOLES IN 60

A record for the Deep Water Bay Golf Course was equalled by D.S. Edward whilst playing with Miss Curtin on Monday last when he played 18 holes in 60 strokes.

The first nine were done in 32 as follows:—4 3 4 4 4 3 4—32 while for the second nine he returned a card of 28, as follows:—4 3 4 2 2 2 4 4—28, which equals the record for the course.

ANOTHER RECORD

Miss Helen Stephens' New Time

Toronto, Sept. 3. Following up her performance on Saturday last when she broke Miss Stella Walsh's record for the 320 yards, Miss Helen Stephens, the seventeen-year-old girl athlete, has bettered another women's running record.

Competing in the 100 yards dash here to-day, Miss Stephens covered the distance in 10.4 seconds. The old record was 10.8 seconds, which was also held by Miss Stella Walsh.—Reuter.

SERIAL STORY

One I Love

by LAURA LOU
BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

JANET HILL breaks her engagement with ROLF CARLISLE after learning he has been going out with BETTY KENDALL, a society girl and niece of a member of the company for which he works. Janet is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine, and Rolf is employed in an advertising office. Janet is still much in love with Rolf but he has declared their engagement didn't "mean anything" and accused her of not really wanting to marry him because she insisted on postponing the marriage until they had saved some money.

Janet is lonely and unhappy. One night on a street car she meets JEFFREY GRANT, a young engineer who has recently moved to the flat above her. He is a friendly, cheerful fellow who has a lot to say about the things she doesn't really want to. Suddenly Janet stopped. Ahead a gloomy barrier loomed across the street, at its centre a dimmed lantern. The street was closed and Janet noted this she realized that she had no notion whatever where she was. She had never come so far down Sixth street before but if she went back exactly the way she had come there was no possibility of losing her way.

CHAPTER XVI

The wind whipped Janet's coat back and the rain struck her face. It was more like sleet than rain. She had to hold the umbrella tightly to keep it erect. A dark, wet, thoroughly disagreeable evening. Still Janet stood there, hesitating. Which way should she go?

The sensible answer, of course, would be down Center street to the car line two blocks away. A stormy night, such as this, was one to spend at home. She hesitated, then, food at the corner and have dinner in her room. Afterward there was the book she had brought home from the library and barely glanced at. Or she could go down and join the bridge game sure to be in progress in Mrs. Snyder's living room.

Yes, that was what she should do—and no sooner had Janet made this decision than she knew she would do nothing of the kind. Center street, leading to the car line, was brightly lighted and ahead three or four pedestrians—office workers, doubt, delayed now hurrying to catch the next car—could be seen.

Sixth street, which intersected with Center, was deserted. Its lights were dimmer and farther apart. There was no one at all in sight on Sixth street.

Janet, having made up her mind, pushed forward. The storm, the sleet and the darkness were far more welcome in her rebellion than the warmest of firesides. She didn't care where the street took her. Again she said to herself, "I can't go on this way!"

A dozen wild notions caught at her fancy. She would go away from Lancaster to Chicago—or New York! But would going away help? Suppose she wrote a letter to Rolf and asked him to come to see her. No, suppose she telephoned him! Suppose—

A gust of cold wind blew her coat open just then and Janet jerked it back in place. The sidewalk, crusted with sleet, was becoming icy. Instead of turning back Janet walked more rapidly. She had forgotten the storm, forgotten that the street was becoming darker and darker, that there were fewer lights in the buildings she passed.

"It's no use!" Janet told herself desolately. "Rolf doesn't care. He'd make excuses." No, it would be better for her to go away. In now surroundings she would forget easily. New York, she thought, would be the best place because it was most remote. The money in the savings bank—the money she had worked so hard to save—would take her there. Janet planned what she would say to Mr. Hamilton. He would give her references that would help her find another job. In New York she would meet lots of people. Girls and young men. She would go to interesting places, to gay parties. She would have beautiful clothes too, as pretty as Betty Kendall's!

Her thoughts ran on but in spite of the glamour of the scenes she pictured mentally Janet's spirits did not rise. Underneath was the dreadful feeling that she would do none of these things. She wouldn't leave Lancaster because she didn't really want to.

Suddenly Janet stopped. Ahead a gloomy barrier loomed across the street, at its centre a dimmed lantern. The street was closed and Janet noted this she realized that she had no notion whatever where she was. She had never come so far down Sixth street before but if she went back exactly the way she had come there was no possibility of losing her way.

She turned. The wind colder as she faced it and Janet was chilled through. The sleet, too, seemed to be coming down faster.

Janet hurried. She walked three blocks and then drew a sigh of relief. Ah, there was the Security building tower in the distance! She hadn't admitted to herself that she was frightened, but it was good to see that tower.

Two blocks more and she was in the business district again. Janet reached a street intersection just as the red light turned green. She waited, thinking that she would stop in the nearest restaurant. She didn't feel hungry but she was cold.

What was that noise? She glanced about. Nothing apparently. The street was without a sign of life. Here and there were lighted store windows but there was not a person in sight.

Janet's fingers were like icicles and she kicked one foot against the other, trying to warm it.

Then distinctly she heard the sound again. It wasn't a cry exactly or a moan. It seemed to come from nearby and it was muffled, muffled like someone weeping. But there was nobody in sight.

It must have been the wind. If the green light had turned red again at that moment Janet would have hurried on and thought no more about the sound. But the light didn't turn red. Janet, waiting, turned and looked behind her curiously. Almost at once she saw the figure in the doorway.

It was a tiny figure, huddled sideways and almost lost in the dark shadows of the doorway. The figure was low-pitched, irregular, as though torn from the very depths of the child's heart.

Janet hesitated an instant. Then she went forward and said, "What's the matter, sonny?"

There was no answer but slowly the head with its knitted cap turned and a face appeared. It was a face that was grimy and tearstained. The sobbing continued.

Encouragingly Janet said, "Listen, sonny, won't you tell me what the trouble is? It's too cold for you to stay here. Are you lost? Maybe I can help."

The little figure became erect and backed away. The light from the street lamp fell on the child and suddenly Janet saw that there were dark matte curls below the knitted cap. It wasn't a little boy but a girl wearing a bulky boy's overcoat that was too large for her.

The child's voice came tearfully, tremblingly, "Who're you?"

"Why I'm just—nobody important but I heard you crying and if you'll tell me what's the matter I'll try to do what I can. Are you lost?"

The little girl shook her head. "I lost my money!" she sobbed.

"Your money? How much was it?" A damp pasteboard box lay at the child's feet. It was empty now but the little girl pointed to it. "I was selling candy!" she wailed. "I had 10 bars and I sold six of them. Then some boys came and they—here the tears began again—they said I couldn't sell any more. They took the candy and the money! And I can't go home—"

The words died away in a fresh outburst of sobs. Janet knew that if she took the child to the nearest policeman her responsibility would be at an end and that the little girl would reach home. Something prompted her to say instead:

"There's a restaurant over there in the next block. Suppose you and I go there and get something to eat. You can tell me all about what happened while we're getting warm. Would you like to do that?"

The sobs ceased. "You mean—it'll be all right?"

Janet laughed. "Of course," she said. "Exactly all right. Here, take my hand so you won't fall."

Over the tile top restaurant table Janet Hill looked at her new acquaintance. Rose, the little girl said her name was. Rose Silvan.

No, she didn't go to school. She was five years old. She had a brother who didn't go to school either. He was crippled.

No, her father and mother wouldn't be worried about her because they weren't at home. Her father was always away looking for work. Her mother went every afternoon to a place where she scrubbed floors. Rose told all this slowly between gulping attacks on the plate of hot food before her.

The reason she had been selling candy, she explained, was because her father didn't have any money and the rent was overdue. Rose forgot about the roast beef and gravy on her plate as she told this. Two great tears slid down the grimy little cheek. If the rent wasn't paid the Silvan would be "put out" and everything they owned set on the street. That had happened to the Morrisays a month ago.

Janet listened steadily. She tried to reassure Rose, who was such a little thing, such a baby! Janet could scarcely believe a child's face could be so entirely devoid of signs of childishness.

They arose at last. Janet paid the checks and they went out to the street. "I'm going to go home with you," Janet announced and they started walking toward the car line.

The sleet had stopped but the wind was colder. Ahead a man was coming toward them. Janet scarcely noticed him until he was almost beside them. The man stopped suddenly, caught Janet's arm.

"How do you like that handbag!" he murmured gruffly. She saw the short black cylinder of a gun barrel and at the same moment heard Rose's scream.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Who can match the story of the career of sweet Shirley Temple, whose new Fox Film picture, "Our Little Girl," plays on Friday at the King's Theatre. She blazed unheralded on to the screen. Wonders counted for nothing. Shirley was a wonder to suffer eclipse. But instead, Shirley has eclipsed all the others, and kept her affections undimmed in the hearts of her public. She has brought them things new to jaded amusement seekers. Other children on the screen have been cute, pert, precocious and often insufferable and spoiled. Not so Shirley Temple! On the screen she is the genuine article, "every mother's child," a thing of grace, charm, wit, and wisdom. Grown-ups who don't like children have revised their prejudices because of her. She is childhood incarnate! But more: she is a screen star unspoiled by the homage of millions.

"No More Ladies"

"No More Ladies," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new Joan Crawford picture, co-starring Robert Montgomery, one of the finest pictures these two popular stars have ever made, will be screened at the Queen's Theatre soon. An uproarious comedy with strong underlying drama of the tangles spun by a modern woman to hold the hand she loves, it was developed from the Broadway stage hit by A. E. Thomas.

The featured cast is exceptionally brilliant, including Charles Ruggles, Franchot Tone, Edna May Oliver, Gail Patrick and Reginald Denny. It would be a half-splitting procedure to determine which turns in the most convincing characterization. With an inspired wardrobe by Adrian and lavish backgrounds by Cedric Gibbons, Producer Irving Thalberg has framed his picture with characteristic originality and attention to detail. Edward H. Griffith's direction surpasses his customary high standard.

"It's A Cop" is a realistic drama that he has shared with ten million people in all parts of the world, starring in a Hollywood picture. And he is doing so simply because he realized years ago the chances that are available every day to people who study newspaper advertisements. Sydney founded fame and fortune by replying to a two-line "ad." Sydney was first employed as a printer's traveller in his native Yealand, near Leeds. One day he was looking through the "Situations Vacant" in a local paper and saw the advertisement for a "Part Time Comedian." Having already done a good deal of concert work he applied for the job, and got it. The next step was to take up concert party work on a whole-time basis, and this happened in 1912 when he accepted an engagement with a concert party at St. Anne-on-Sea, near Blackpool. With this show Sydney definitely threw in his lot with the theatrical profession and as soon as he settled down to the business of making people laugh his worth was recognized, and a Bradford manager gave him a leading part in a musical show called "The Radium Girl," which proved so popular that it was produced in London and put Sydney Howard on the high road to success. Following a period spent in provincial shows, Sydney came once more to London in a show called "Box o' Tricks," put on at the Hippodrome. For the next two years Sydney was under contract to Albert de Courville, and appeared regularly in his revues, after which he appeared in variety and toured in all the principal cities of South Africa. In this way he continued his steady climb to success and so reached the first high peak of his career in 1927 when he played the part of Battling Smith in "Hit the Deck" at the London Hippodrome. This presentation gave place to an engagement with the co-optimalists, the famous team of London stars who collaborated on co-starring terms in an intimate musical entertainment. The year of this show, 1929, saw Sydney Howard signed up by British and Dominions to make his film debut in "Splinters." When "Splinters" was shown it became apparent that a new and unique film comedian had made his bow and further film starring Sydney were eagerly awaited. His subsequent films, as a British and Dominions star, have been "Almost a Divorce," "Up for the Cup," "The Mayor's Men," "Up for the Derby," a comedy based on the most famous race in the world, "It's a King," "Night of the Garter," and "Trouble." He comes to the King's Theatre today in "It's a Cop" which is undoubtedly his funniest film to date.

"Gigolette"

A conflict between gratitude to one man and affection for another is graphically depicted in "Gigolette," which opens to-day at the Queen's Theatre. Adrienne Ames, Ralph Busby, Robert Armstrong and Donald Cook are seen in the leading roles. Her funds exhausted, an insistent hotel manager demanding payment for an over due bill, and no prospect of employment—is the situation in which Kay Furrish, former society girl, finds herself after her father's suicide. She turns to her last hope, the owner of a shady night club in New York who had once offered her a job when he mistook her for a waitress at a charity garden party. Terry, the proprietor, takes her on, sympathizing with her predicament. Into the club Hec-Haw comes Gregg Emerson, vengeful for having once been cheated in the same club. He meets Kay, and when he is thrown out for refusing to pay his check, he sees her home. Their romance starts, with Terry as the third in a dramatic triangle. "Gigolette" is an RKO-Radio release produced by Select.

ing them to Italian Somaliland.—
Reuter.

TROOPS MOVING

Addis Ababa, Sept. 3.
The first troops have departed towards the Italian colonial borders adjoining Ethiopia. An army of 8,000 men has left this city and is being followed by its supplies in a long string of box cars. These warriors belong to Dalmatian, Habesha, Mikael, chief of Adowa, where the Italian army was slaughtered in 1896. Mikael expects to have 20,000 fighting men along the border eventually.

His warriors range in age from children to greybeards, but all carry arms of sorts, their bundles and purses, and grinned broadly as they stood in line for inspection. Meanwhile, the Italian Legation has demanded that it be allowed to bring 200 Italian machine-gunners to Addis Ababa to defend the Legation. The Ethiopian Government intends to refuse the demand. The report that Italian troops have invaded Ethiopia has now been heard here, as in Rome. But there is much nervousness on the frontier.—United Press.

WAR'S PHANTOM

Paris, Sept. 3.
War's phantom assumed substance to-day with France, Germany, Austria, Spain and Britain engaged in military manoeuvres on a scale unequalled since 1918. The Continental armies deployed across the ground blood-stained and torn from 1914 to 1918 while Great Britain's Mediterranean Fleet formed a strategic crescent across that sheet of water and Italy countered by putting her submarine forces into defensive stations.—United Press.

GERMAN SYMPATHY

Berlin, Sept. 3.
The Minister for the Interior, Herr Frick, published an article to-day in which he states: "The satisfactory settlement of the colonial question is a prerequisite of Germany's return to the League. We fully understand Italy's position," he added, "which is similar to our own."—United Press.

OFF TO MALTA

Southampton, Sept. 3.
The troopship Neutralla has left here for Malta with 1,300 troops and 400 naval ratings aboard. She also carries several pilots of the R.A.F.—United Press.

U. S. WILL HELP

Geneva, Sept. 3.
Senator Pope, who recently, but quite unofficially, visited the Foreign Office in London to discuss the Italo-Ethiopian situation, said to-day that the United States would fully co-operate with the League if it proves capable of stopping the Italo-Ethiopian war threat from developing into actual conflict.—United Press.

NATIVE VOLUNTEERS

Rome, Sept. 3.
General Balbo, famous Italian airman, and now administering the Tripoli territory under the Italian flag, reports that native troops there have volunteered for duty in East Africa.

Il Duce immediately ordered white troops from Italy to Tripoli as replacements to allow the volunteers to proceed to Eritrea.—United Press.

GLASGOW PORT PROSPERITY

MARKED INCREASE IN SHIPPING

London, Sept. 3.
Considerable general expansion in the trade of Glasgow as a port, illustrating the improvement of heavy industries on the Clyde, was announced at a meeting to-day of the Clyde Navigation Trust.

During the past year, the total net registered tonnage of vessels arriving at and leaving the port was 13,699,071—an increase on the previous year of 681,103 tons, or 5.23 per cent. The total tonnage of goods imported and exported was 6,480,970—an increase of 364,618 tons, or 5.96 per cent.—British Wireless.

BRITISH FINANCES

London, Sept. 3.
Exchequer returns show that the total ordinary revenue, excluding self-balancing items, amounts to £244,263,208, compared with £237,005,270 at the corresponding date last year. Total ordinary expenditure, exclusive of self-balancing items, is £239,655,120, against £237,244,208 at the corresponding date of 1932.—British Wireless.

WANCHAI ARREST SEQUEL

BIG CROWD GATHERS OUTSIDE STATION

Charged before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning with assaulting P. C. C407, Mak Fu, of the Hongkong Police, Chan Yee, 38, widow, and Chan Yau, 40, unemployed, both pleaded they did not know the complainant was a police officer. They were discharged with a caution.

Inspector Stewart Logan stated there was no proof that they knew he was a constable. There may have been a misunderstanding and the assault was not a serious one. No damage had been done to the detective, who was in plain clothes at the time; it was more a case of interference.

As a sequel to this case, seven Chinese, six men and a woman, were charged with causing obstruction on the roadway outside the Wanchai Police Station last night. They all denied the charge.

Inspector Logan stated that a crowd of several hundreds gathered outside the station following the arrest of the two defendants in the previous case. After repeated warnings a section of the crowd moved away but the majority stayed. Inspector Logan and three Indian policemen then arrested the seven defendants.

"It is a nightly occurrence at Wanchai and it is getting serious," remarked Inspector Logan. "We have to take steps to stop it. The trouble is that you can see right into the charge room from the street." The defendants were remanded until to-morrow when the case will be heard. Bail of $5 each was allowed.

CONCESSION FOR SALE

IN RETURN FOR MONEY LOAN

New York, Sept. 3.
An American business man has obtained an option, signed by the Ethiopian Minister to London, for a concession.

The option is for a period of ninety days, from July 19, giving "sole concession to raise $1,000,000 as a loan to my country."

The Minister's promise adds: "We are prepared to give as security a concession for fifty years for gold and platinum resources in territories to be decided upon which are under our absolute control."

The business man concerned is supposed to have powerful backers, but he refuses to name them. He says they intend to exercise their option, and that they are not connected with the Standard Oil Company.—United Press.

LABOUR MUST BACK LEAGUE

BRITAIN SEEKING FRENCH SUPPORT

(Special to "Telegraph")

London, Sept. 3.
At a joint meeting of the Trade Union Congress General Council and the Labour Party Executive at Margate, a resolution was framed for submission to a mass meeting of French Labourites, to be held in Paris.

The resolution affirms that the Labour movement in both countries demands that their respective Governments unreservedly uphold the obligations of the League Covenant, with a view to safeguarding world peace.

Practically all the members of the British Labour Executive attended the meeting.—Reuter Special.

TIENTSIN EXPLOSION

ETHER BLAST IN RAILWAY STATION

Tientsin, Sept. 4.
An explosion of cases of ether in the baggage-room of the Tientsin eastern railway station yesterday afternoon caused injuries to eleven persons, two of whom are in a serious condition.

Ten wooden cases containing the ether in bottles had been brought up to the station by a Japanese forwarding concern, which did not declare the nature of the cargo, and, contrary to regulation, intended to despatch it by passenger train.

The explosion occurred as the consignment was being placed on scales to be weighed.—Reuter.

CANCELLING ETHIOPIAN CONCESSION

character designed to assist in the development of the country.

With regard to the suggestion that the concession is contrary to the Treaty of 1904, the communiqué says Ethiopia did not become a party to that treaty while the British Government which is a party to the treaty is not involved directly or indirectly in the concession.—Reuter.

FORMAL STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 3.
A formal statement was issued by Mr. Cordell Hull later. He said Mr. H. Dundas, vice-President, and Mr. George Walden, chairman of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company (not the Socony Company as originally reported) called to tell him that their company owned the concession granted to the African Exploration and Development Co., which was a subsidiary of the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., and that they wished the State Department's advice upon the situation.

Mr. Hull informed them that the granting of the concession had caused a great deal of embarrassment not only to the United States Government but to others who were making strenuous and sincere efforts to preserve peace.

In the circumstances the Government believed it was highly desirable that steps be taken as soon as possible to terminate the concession.

Later Mr. Dundas and Mr. Walden informed Mr. Hull that the company had decided to withdraw from the concession.—Reuter.

RICKETT AUTHORIZED

A statement issued on behalf of the Standard Vacuum Oil Company declares that Mr. F. M. Rickett approached them early in 1935 regarding the possibility of negotiating petroleum exploitation development with Ethiopia. A company was organised. The African Exploration Development Company, of Delaware, and Mr. Rickett was authorised to negotiate an agreement.

This did not provide for any payment or loan, nor had any been made, the statement said. The matter was handled as a private transaction with Ethiopia and there was no thought of consultation with any other Government.

President Roosevelt, informed of the oil company's decision, said he was most gratified, because the concession was so upsetting to peace negotiations.—Reuter.

STAR FERRY INCIDENT

WOMEN IN ASSAULT CASE

Mrs. Alina Rocha, of No. 169 Sai Yeung Choi Street, first floor, was the complainant in a summons against Mrs. Marie Soldini, of No. 8 York Road, Kowloon Tong, alleging that she was assaulted by her on the Star Ferry on August 23, in a summons heard before Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. The hearing was adjourned sine die owing to the absence of defendant.

Mr. R. H. Cole, of Messrs. Hall Brutton and Company, appeared for the complainant, while Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios represented the defendant.

Mr. Remedios informed His Worship that his client had this morning sailed for Japan and that he understood that she would be returning by the end of this month. The prosecution made an application for the withdrawal of the summons and stated that they wished to take civil action to claim compensation for damage done, such as damage to clothing and doctors' fees.

The Magistrate reserved his decision and adjourned the case sine die.

Dr. Robert E. Cornish, who has claimed to have resuscitated dogs after they had been dead for some days, announced that he had invited Dr. Ralph S. Willard, who claims to be able to keep monkeys alive in a frozen state, to share his modest Berkeley laboratory for joint experiment.—United Press.

TAIPO SLANDER ACTION

BRIDE AWARDED DAMAGES

The Taiipo slander case, in which a bride claimed $1,000 damages for remarks alleged to have been passed at her wedding ceremony, ended at the Supreme Court to-day when the claim against Lee Sang, first defendant, was dismissed; and Lee Kwai-sang, second defendant, was ordered to pay $250 damages and costs.

Plaintiff, Cheng Ah-tai, alias Mr. Lee Yau, alleged that the two men shouted at the ceremony on March 14 that she was pregnant and unworthy to be the bride of her prospective husband. The wedding proceeded later, though at first her husband was roused to fury by the remarks.

After giving judgment for the first defendant, Mr. Justice Lind-sell, Puisne Judge, said he was satisfied that the second defendant made the remark attributed to him, that plaintiff was a pregnant woman.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for defendants and Mr. H. L. Denny, of Denny & Co., represented plaintiff.

BRITISH HEALTH SERVICES

GREAT EXPANSION IN KING'S REIGN

London, Sept. 3.
The report of the Ministry of Health for the year ended March 31 last gives an arresting survey of the chief developments during the 25 years of the King's reign in the Ministry's main services.

Under the National Health and Pensions' Insurance schemes—"one of most memorable developments of public health"—16,450,000 persons are insured, and in the last ten years more than £150,000,000 has been disbursed in statutory sickness and maternity benefit and more than £90,000,000 in medical benefit. Yet so soundly has the scheme proved to have been constructed that during the life of the scheme it has been found practicable to expend a total sum of over £23,000,000 in additional benefits.

Health expenditure is shown to be a long-term investment of sex and age. The constitution of the population fell from 18.2 per thousand living in 1910 to 9.3 last year. Infant mortality in the first year, per thousand live births, fell from 105 in 1910 to 64 in 1933.

In regard to housing, the report states that some 153,000,000 acres, or more than two-fifths of England and Wales, is now subject to some form of town planning control.—British Wireless.
